IMPORTANT SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT
FOR ADVERTISERS

Some advertisers who change their ads for each issue are often submitting their copy after the deadline for the issue in which the ad is to appear. When this happens, we often have to run the ad from the previous issue as per contract agreements.

All advertisers are asked to remember that copy should reach me by the 21st of the months of November, (for next issue), January, March, May, July and September. In other words, the deadline is the 21st of the second month preceding the date of issue. If you have any questions regarding this, please phone me at 613-996-3364.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS

In the past the R.P.S.C. has sent you, as required, a special copy of The Canadian Philatelist or a tear sheet, if you had an ad in the "CP". Increasing postal rates have caused the R.P.S.C. to review this action. If there is a need for a full copy of the "CP" or just a tear sheet, the R.P.S.C. will be pleased to oblige if you have a ¼ page or larger ad. If you require a tear sheet on a regular basis for an 1/8 page ad, classified or chapter ad, a supply of stamped, self-addressed envelopes should be sent to the undersigned.

Most advertisers are members of the R.P.S.C. and already receive a copy of the "CP" and perhaps do not require an extra copy or tear sheets. To resolve this matter would you please return the attached information sheet for my records. If you require any other data please let me know.

THOUGHTS & THINGS

by Peter M. Mann

SEASON’S GREETINGS

Preparing copy for this issue of your journal so far ahead of the publication date tends to make one forget that Christmas and the New Year are fast approaching. The commercials for children’s toys on television are not much help because they start to appear shortly after Labour Day. However, the announcement by the many postal administrations of their forthcoming Christmas stamps soon makes it apparent that the holiday season is rapidly approaching.

On behalf of the executive and officers of the R.P.S.C., I should like to take this opportunity to extend to all of our members and other readers Season’s Greetings and best wishes for the holiday season and the New Year.

A stamp’s a tiny, flimsy thing,
No thicker than a beetle’s wing,
And yet ’twill roam the world for you Exactly where you tell it to.*

“The Three-Halfpenny Traveller” Edward Verrall Lucas.

*Except at those times when the postal workers are on strike for a 30 hour non-work week. Ed.

FURTHER ON COVERS STOLEN FROM MARITIME ARCHIVES

We have received full lists of the covers that are known to be missing from the several archives in the Maritime Provinces. We have also been requested to publish these lists.

However, since the lists occupy some forty typewritten pages and have been published elsewhere, e.g., Canadian Stamp News, we do not think that it is necessary to publish the lists also.

We do strongly urge any collector who has any doubts about covers in his/her collection to consult the lists in the Canadian Stamp News or to contact the archives to determine whether or not the cover(s) was/were stolen from the archives. Under no circumstances should the cover(s) be destroyed.

The addresses of the archives from which covers have been stolen are:

CORRESPONDENCE COURSES IN PHILATELY

The American Philatelic Society has provided a grant of $4,000 to The Pennsylvania State University to assist in the development of a correspondence programme in philately.

Details of the entire programme are still tentative, however, the initial indications are that courses will be available as follows:

1. Two courses for the novice or beginning collector (youth and adult).
2. One course for the more advanced collector.
3. One course for the expertising of stamps.
4. One course for stamp dealers (business).
5. One course for stamp show judges.
6. And possibly one for the stamp investor.

The A.P.S. grant is intended for the development of the first of the courses. An advisory committee of philatelists is being set up to guide the planning of the entire programme and the development of the courses.

We shall keep you informed as plans develop further.

POSTAGE DUES FOR POSTAGE DEFICIT?

The second issue of the Canada Post’s Philatelic Bulletin mentions (p.3) that sometime during 1979, a completely new set of postage due stamps will be issued, the first new design series since 1967.

WHY?

The current series (set) as described in the July-August 1978 issue of the Canadian Philatelist is seldom seen in use so why spend the time and money to prepare a new design and new set of values?
It would be more economical to release a new denomination of the present series, if such was needed, which I doubt. Or, if Canada Post wanted to make a distinctive change, use a new colour for additional denominations and new printings of currently used denominations.
A new series in a new design seems to be only another attempt to have the collector help reduce Canada Post's deficit, by producing unnecessary and relatively useless stamps.

SLOVENIA STUDY GROUP
A new study group has been formed within the Croatian Philatelic Society and is headed by R.P.S.C. member A. H. Stokes, 396 Main Street, Toronto, Ontario, M4C 4X8. The Slovenia Study Group will delve into all aspects of Slovenian philately.
Slovenia is a part of the present Yugoslavia and is bordered by Italy, Austria, Hungary and Croatia. Most of its over 100 issues were overprintings of Yugoslav and Italian stamps.
Interested persons are invited to write to Mr. Stokes for membership details. Please include a self-addressed stamped envelope.

TUVALU PHILATELIC SOCIETY BEING FORMED
The first meeting of the new Tuvalu Philatelic Society was held at the Chicago Philatelic Society exhibition on October 7. Collectors who wish to receive more information on the society should write to Mr. Theodore Castro, P.O. Box 2760, Chicago, IL, 60690, U.S.A.

The above cancellation was applied to mail from Stockholm and from Goteborg, Sweden, from April to November 14, 1975 and some who received mail with this cancel probably wondered why there seems to be a combination of Swedish and English.
The American Topical Association's journal Topical Times published two explanations for it as follows: The "English" seems self explanatory while the Swedish translates to "Never write street address to those who have post office boxes. Thanks!" . . . The slogan was used to encourage persons writing to those who had both a box number and a street address to use the box number.
The second "explanation" was that "when returning to Sweden, after having emigrated to the U.S.A., the Swedes told about the hard conditions found in the U.S. and of customs that had developed. In early days of emigrating, it seems that if you wished to become acquainted with strangers, you said yes, then you had to accept a "box" or a blow, then it was all right."
I have a third explanation which was provided by an official of the Swedish Post Office. He stated that the slogan has a very special history. "In 1908, in a stage review in Stockholm, there was a very funny song in which a person of little education met King Edward VII of England when he debarked from his ship on a visit to Stockholm. The king speaks to him and he pretends that he understands what the king said and he answers in what he thinks is English: "Yes, alright, kolbox". This expression caught on and was later changed to "Yes, box, alright" and it simply means that everything is OK, or that an order or wish is correctly understood. The expression is colloquial only and can hardly be found in a Swedish dictionary.

The slogan on the postmark is a part of a campaign of the Swedish Post Office that our customers use the P.O. Box number instead of the street address to a person having a P.O. Box address.

I leave it to you to decide which explanation is the correct one.

Letters to the Editor

On Canada Post, Its Philatelic Service, and numbers of stamps issued.

Canada Post,
Philatelic Service.

I am so fed up with your service that I am all but decided to forget the stamps. You may have set up a beautiful expensive computer but between it and your wholesale issuing of stamps, I'd suggest you're really ripping off our customers. If you're trying to create profits in your department to cover the deficit of the fouled up Post Office, I hope you are successful. With the number of stamps you are printing these days there shouldn't be any deficit.

There was a time when a balance of $50.00 (interest free) in your account would be more than sufficient. Now — $200.00 wouldn't last two months.

What are you trying to do — discourage the average collector or gouge them? I'm suggesting you are doing both!

Pardon my frustration and language but you're ruining the enjoyment of collecting Canadian stamps.

On August 7th, according to your statement, I had a balance of $120.67. On August 7th you charged out $60.84 leaving $59.83.

Kindly close out my account and return my $59.83 by return mail.

Donald C. Warren,
Toronto, Ontario.

New collector thinks number of stamps satisfactory.

Through the past months there has been a lot of activity in the philatelic press suggesting that Canada Post issues too many stamps. The editor of the "Canadian Philatelist" goes so far as to suggest to members of the R.P.S.C. to write to you to complain.

Undoubtedly many "philatelists" will; however I suspect they will be the self-satisfied snobs of the philatelic world sitting on gobs of classic material. They seem unable to grasp the fact that new collectors cannot afford to go backwards and must therefore look to new issues to maintain interest and add to their collection. I say keep up the good work and keep the new issues coming!

D. E. Norman,
North Vancouver, B.C.

A Thank You from a member in the U.S.

It was indeed a pleasant surprise to receive in the mail the copy of the Capex '78 Catalogue, with the compliments of the R.P.S.C.

Because of personal circumstances, I was unable to get up to Toronto for the big show, so getting the catalogue helped alleviate some of the disappointment.

Having been rather active over the years in Canadian philately, especially in one of the leading specialty groups, I was understandably "put out" when I failed to receive any material from Capex '78, either from the organization itself, or from individual officers or members.
Although a member of the R.P.S.C. for a few years, I have been unable to attend any of its conventions, so cannot be classified as a real active member. Thus, it was much appreciated when the catalogue came through the mail.

Whoever was responsible for the decision to do this mailing is to be congratulated — this was real public relations in action! Keep up the good work.

(Dr.) Ian W. Taylor, Wheeling, Illinois.

Capex Comments

The Sept.-Oct. issue arrived today and after reading it just before bed I was too disturbed to sleep without first writing this reply to those who criticize CAPEX '78, especially after reading Fred Stulberg’s comments partially in rebuttal. I had also read some of the critical letters in another publication with a deep feeling of disgust.

Those who complain and criticize CAPEX must have been very ill-informed or have some other hidden reasons for complaining because nothing else seems to explain such reactions.

Do they think that those who planned, organized and ran CAPEX were paid handsome salaries and were not giving value for the money? Alan McKenna addressed our chapter, Credit Valley Philatelic Society, at our February meeting telling us much of the story of developments to that time. It was a low-keyed talk just telling us some of the story without in any way seeming to seek praise or gratitude. I had the honour of thanking him for his visit and was nearly speechless (our members know that is an accomplishment!) and could only express our wonder at and appreciation for so much hard work having been contributed by so few people who still had many more long hours of labour ahead of them before CAPEX could open, to say nothing of the tremendous efforts still required after opening day and beyond closing day. His quietly told story was breathtaking and the entire philatelic world should be deeply grateful for what those dedicated men and women accomplished.

I attended CAPEX three times and have only two complaints, one that the excellence of the exhibits nearly discouraged me to the point of quitting the hobby and second, that the world famous British Guiana #13 (a lucky or unlucky Scott numbering chance?) is so ugly that I can't even envy its owner — and he dares not even keep it in an album where he can "enjoy" it.

My really bad experience and a crowning insult could not be blamed on CAPEX. A Canadian dealer, in Canada and talking to me, a Canadian, stated that all his prices were in U.S. dollars. I nearly exploded! And then later I heard an American dealer who was trying to sell some stamps to a British dealer from whom I was selecting my "gems" speak in a derogatory fashion about our currency. I got my chance to reply when the British dealer asked me if I agreed with him that one of the stamps had a small thin — it did.

CAPEX was fun, fascinating and educational and I say to those who slaved so hard — ignore the carpers — congratulations for a job well done!

J. Gordon Hird, Mississauga, Ont.

... As Vice President of the Sixth International in the United States and Chairman of the Frames Procurement Committee for the Seventh International in the United States, I have had some small experience with international shows in this country. I do not believe there is a single international show where, if the opportunity were given, reentries would not be made on the plate of performance. However, we are not so fortunate as those engaged in stamp production, and we do not have the opportunity to correct our mistakes. Therefore, one must judge the exhibition on its overall quality and, in that regard, CAPEX was an outstanding and rousing success, in my opinion.

Elsewhere in the current issue of the magazine (Sept.-Oct. CP), I note with distaste, but understanding, the increase in the dues made necessary by the ubiquitous inflation which pervades both our countries. Enclosed herewith is my check to bring my life membership payment up to the current fee. I do this voluntary, knowing that it is not required, as an expression of my appreciation for the marvelous job done by the CAPEX Committee and the Royal Philatelic Society of Canada in promoting philately throughout the North American Continent this past year.

The Counters of the Large Queen Issue

DR. ROBERT A. CHAPLIN, F.R.P.S.C.

Fig. 1. One half cent counter

There are counters of shaded capital letters in the upper sheet margins of the large queen issue, with two significant exceptions. The counters of the twelve and one half cents sheets are unshaded capital letters and there are no counters on the fifteen cents sheets.

The one half cent counters (Fig. 1) are composed of shaded capital letters and are in the left upper margin above stamps two and three. There are several good examples of this counter.

The one cent yellow stamp (Fig. 2) shows lines of shading in the upper margin. These correspond to the letters O N E. Therefore one may conclude that there is a counter with shaded capital letters in the upper margin.

Fig. 2. One cent yellow with counter shading in upper margin
Figure three is a block of four plate proofs. It was lot number 163 in Sissons' (Toronto) auction of 18 April 1951. A similar, or the same block was in the Cohen exhibit at CAPEX '78. The right edge of the imprint is in the upper margin and a portion of the counter is above stamp eight.

A block in the Leggett collection does not have a counter above stamps one or two. A block illustrated in Maple Leaves vol. 7, no. 8, page 218, February 1959, shows that there is not a counter above stamps six and seven.

There is probably a counter of shaded capital letters in the right upper margin above stamps eight and nine of the two cents large queen issue.

The counter of shaded capital letters is in the upper sheet margin of the five cents large queen stamps (Fig. 5).

The Doctors Duckworth have illustrated the counters in the upper margins of both plates of the six cents large queen stamps in their excellent article published in B.N.A. Topics vol. 32, no. 1, page 4, January 1975.

POSTAL USE OF NAURU STAMPS

Figures recently released by the Post Office of the Republic of Nauru indicate the use of postage stamps on mail sent from Nauru to overseas addresses.

Surface mail averages 560 letters and other articles a week (97 bags a month). Most of this is sent by air since airmail service is frequent and regular. Surface shipments depend on vessels calling at the island, and these can be affected by adverse weather conditions.

On average 580 letters, 230 other articles and four or five parcels are carried weekly by Air Nauru. These amount to a total weight in excess of 1,000 kilos a year, with parcels making up some 700 kilos of that weight.

As with all other countries, these figures are monitored by the Universal Postal Union and, since most Nauruan overseas mail incurs a carriage cost outside of Nauru, the UPU prepares data from which each country is allocated a credit against all others in respect of the cost of carrying other countries’ mail through its own services. Naturally, Nauru features as a ‘debtor nation’ and the debt is settled by an exchange of currency between the member nations of the UPU.

THE FERGUSONS'

Since April 1965 Postage Stamp Auctions by mail have been our only business and we are the only Canadian House maintaining strictly MAIL AUCTIONS — NO RETAIL. Our sales average 800 to 1,000 lots with a price range from $20.00 to $1,000.00 as a rule. However, fairly often there are complete sets or individual items that are less expensive.

In every case we try to describe each lot most accurately so that you, the bidder, may visualize what you are hoping to buy. If we err on a description you can always get your money refunded if we cannot effect a replacement.

If you have not seen our illustrated catalogues it will only cost you the postage to get one or two — why not give us a try? Material for auction must catalogue at least $500.00, and be in our hands at least four months prior to the auction date.

Part 1

Along with the honour of issuing the first postage stamps on May 6th, 1840, Great Britain had the less welcome distinction of revealing on that same day the first error in postal design. The Mulready covers and envelopes, which had been expected to be popular companions of the first stamps, quickly became the subjects of ridicule. Part of the humour was provided by the messenger flying above Britannia's left hand, for she had only one leg.

This conspicuous and amusing mistake was the first of many. Almost all countries have contributed to the growing total. Numerous collectors and other observant persons keep eagerly searching for such oversights. Those of us who have become so addicted are continually amazed at the number and variety of mistakes committed through ignorance or inadvertence, errors of fact, of judgment or omission, mirror images, departures from established convention. And they keep showing up with increasing frequency.

The errors range from the glaring and obvious to those minor ones that take the alert and knowing eye to discover. They are mostly pitfalls that could, and should, have been avoided by the designer or issuing authority.

Since that unhappy beginning in 1840 Great Britain has had her full share of these embarrassments, and it has not usually taken the observant watchers long to discover them.

The next two found in the issues of Britain were fairly modest examples that showed up in the expressions for denominations, but they were taken seriously, at least by purists. The first of these occurred in 1862. Up until then the SIX PENCE stamps had the denomination expressed, properly, in that form. In the new issue of that year it somehow became SIX-PENCE, with a hyphen (Fig. 1). This hyphen also appeared on the 1865 issue. The subject of this hyphen aroused a good deal of interest, and was even brought up in the House of Commons. In 1867 the matter was resolved, and the hyphen removed, its removal assisted by Rowland Hill's brother Ormond. Improperly hyphenated denominations were never to recur.

The second denominational aberration
Swedish stamp sets are designed to make the stamps easy to handle

Swedish stamps are made for postal use. For this reason they must be easy to handle both for the post office clerks and for the customers. In Sweden we think that coils and booklets are easier to deal with than big sheets, and that is why we only issue our stamps in these two types of sets.

Booklets—a new collector's specialty

Stamp booklets have become an international collector's specialty and Sweden is a forerunner in this field. The first Swedish stamp booklet was issued in 1904. A Swedish booklet can contain 5–20 stamps with up to six different motifs, always featuring a common theme. The vending-machine booklet came in 1954 and it can contain up to six different values to provide combinations for different postage rates.

Look at the 1978 Christmas stamps

The theme is old toys: A Dalecarlia horse from the early 19th century, a doll from the Swedish court of the 1590's, tops from the late 19th century, an equipage with a water barrel from the 1880's, a teddy bear and a meccano. Four of the stamps will be issued in booklets with two motifs of the same value in each. The other two will be issued in coils. Day of issue: 14 November.

The 1978 Nobel stamps will also be issued 14 November featuring the 1918 prize winners.

Ask for Swedish stamps at your dealer's, who can also help you subscribe to new issues. Or send for information from the PFA, The Swedish Post Office, Stamps and Philatelic Service, S-105 02 STOCKHOLM, Sweden.

The Royal Swedish Post Office
came in 1880, when THREE-HALFPENCE was incorrectly expressed as THREE HALF PENCE (Fig. 2). That or THREE HALFPENCE have appeared every time that this denomination has been expressed in words on British postage or postage due stamps, despite the firm guidance of the Oxford Dictionary, which allows of no option - it must be THREE-HALFPENCE.

There have also been indignant comments from sticklers for accuracy on the typography used on some stamps in the numerical expressions for denominations such as the omission of the fraction bar on the 1½d value of the 1952 issue, while the bar is present on the ½d and 2½d values (Fig. 3). What many also see as a solecism is the use of a capital ‘I’ for ‘I’ in the figures on the ten-shilling and one-pound values of 1955 (Fig. 4). Critical comment has as well been directed to the rendering of letters in inscriptions. One example is found in the 1952 regular issue, where on the 8d to 11d design the ‘U’ in ‘REVENUE’ is an inverted lower-case ‘n’. A similar usage is found on the 1/6 value of the Coronation issue of 1953 (Fig. 5).

The representation of heraldic devices on stamps has proven to be troublesome for many countries, Britain surprisingly among them. She got off to a bad start, with her first use of Arms, on the 5d value of the last Queen Victoria issue of 1887. The Scottish lion in the second quarter should be surrounded by a double, not a

In the related field of the Royal regalia it was noticed that the Coronation stamp of 1937 had the Orb, shown at the left, improperly depicted. The half-circle of gems above the 'equator' is at right angles to the plane of the cross, but it should be in that plane, as on the Coronation issue of 1953 (Fig. 9).

Now to nautical matters. The 2½d of the Peace issue of 1946 (Fig. 10) has a ship at the lower right, which is depicted with two anchors at the port bow. A Commander of the Royal Navy quickly drew attention to the fact that such a ship, a large one, would never, irrespective of the number of anchors, carry more than one at the port bow.

Another one in which the designer was said to be at sea is the Chichester GYPSY MOTH IV issue of 1967 (Fig. 11). Letters to 'The Times' and other papers hastened to point out that the wash should be on the lee, not the windward, side and not nearly as long. As well, she could not possibly carry full sail in such heavy weather and survive.

Some collectors extend their critical observations to such ancillary items as booklets and presentation packs. They have noted that the pack for the British Ships issue of 1969 stated in the original version that R.M.S. Queen Elizabeth II sailed on her maiden voyage on 17th January, 1969 (the intended date), but the sailing was delayed until 2nd May. Consequently a revised version was prepared, which carried the more acceptable statement ‘... she sails on her maiden voyage early in 1969.’

An example of deliberate toying with accuracy is found on the 3d value of the 1949 set marking the 75th anniversary of the formation of the Universal Postal Union (Fig. 12a). It showed the U.P.U. monument at Bern, which features human figures in counter-clockwise motion around the globe. On this stamp, however, one figure was incorrectly shown standing, facing in the wrong direction (against the traffic). Comparison with the same monument shown elsewhere, such as on a contemporary set of Bahawalpur (Fig. 12b), will confirm this departure from accurate representation.

On the 1957 issue marking the 50th anniversary of the Boy Scout movement, on the 2½d stamp (Fig. 13), the scout badge and the Queen are the prominent features. They are framed by 'a rope coiled to make a rolling hitch', which is intertwined. On the assumption that there is just one rope it is hard to understand how the strands come to be twisting in opposite directions.

A map of Britain on the 3d National Productivity Year issue of 1962 (Fig. 14) had two omissions, the Shetland Islands (about which the Scots were particularly... indignant) and the Isles of Scilly. Correspondence in the philatelic press on the latter omission was headed ‘A Scilly Mistake’.

The Scots got stirred up again two years later, when a set was issued to mark the 10th International Botanical Congress, which was held in Edinburgh. There were four floral stamps. Through what some consider at least an error of judgment, one showed a typical English rose, two more had wild flowers that never grow wild in Scotland - the spring gentian and the fringed water lily - and the other showed a honeysuckle (Sc. 414-7).

The year before, on the National Nature Week issue, a bee or wasp was shown visiting a bouquet of cut flowers (Sc. 393), and nature lovers said that no self-respecting insect would attempt to collect nectar from such a source.

image of the Droeshout engraving (Fig. 15). In this matter, however, some contend that the portrait itself is a strange one, as it shows Shakespeare with two right eyes and two left sides of his coat, a front and a back. On the accompanying air letter forms his portrait is a similar reverse image, and the scene on the stamp on this letter is from Holler’s ‘Long View’ etching of London, on which the Bear Garden is incorrectly labelled ‘The Globe’ (Fig. 16)*. Also on the letter a large view of the Theatre in Stratford-Upon-Avon is, on the original version, wrongly labelled ‘SHAKESPEARE MEMORIAL THEATRE, STRATFORD-ON-AVON, WARRICKSHIRE’, whereas the name had been changed in 1961 to ROYAL SHAKESPEARE THEATRE, STRATFORD-UPON-AVON. This error was corrected in a revised edition.

Fig. 16. Shakespeare aerogramme stamp

Two of the great writers, Shakespeare and Burns, have suffered from calculated and inadvertent departures from accuracy. On the four stamps of the 1964 issue commemorating the 400th anniversary of Shakespeare’s birth his portrait is a mirror

Fig. 17. Robert Burns commemorative, Sc. 444

There was prompt criticism of the two Burns stamps of 1966. On the 4d (Fig. 17) the Cross of St. Andrew, on the flag behind Burns, is out of proportion; it should be about five times as wide. On the 1/3 value the portrait of Burns is based on a mirror image of a painting by Nasmith. A Burns air letter of 1964 also had a mirror version of the Nasmith portrait and a clock face that lacked ‘2’ and ‘12’.

On the 6d World Cup stamp of 1966 a most curious slip occurred, the soccer player at the left had his feet backward, with his heels to the front (Fig. 18).

Examples of what may perhaps be excused as excessive artistic license appeared on the Battle of Hastings issue of 1966, which depicted parts of the Bayeux Tapestry. The strip of six of the 4d showed scenes which were generally in proper sequence, but number three, showing the death of Harold, should have been between the fifth and sixth, to preserve the continuity. As well, some scenes were altered by moving parts about within the whole, such as archers brought in from the edging and reversed.

Fig. 19. Christmas 1967, Sc. 524

Christmas issues seem to be jinxed, and have given rise to a succession of critical comments. The first came in 1967 when, on the 1/6 denominations (Fig. 19), the value was expressed in words only, ‘ONE SHILLING AND SIXPENCE’, in contravention of the U.P.U. instruction that the value be shown in Arabic numerals. The 4d of the 1970 issue (Fig. 20), while in perhaps one sense not wrong, perpetuated an error that had come about long before. The design showed an illumination from the 14th Century de Lisle Psalter. The psalter had originally borne the inscription ‘Gloria in Excelsis Deo’, but many years ago, during restoration after fading, the long ‘s’ was mistaken for an ‘r’ and ‘Excelsis’ became ‘Excleris’, the word appearing on the stamp. The Christmas issue of 1972 showed angels playing musical instruments (Fig. 21). On the 2½p (new pence were now in use) a pipe carried by the angel had no reed or mouthpiece; on the 3p an unfretted cittern, with tuning pegs half-way down the neck, could not be played; and on the 7½p a harp, shown unsupported, would have fallen. It was said, further, in the correspondence columns of ‘The Times’ that the angels, to support such wings, would need larger breastbones. Another writer said, however, that, as angels are presumably weightless, they and their instruments do not follow the usual rules. On the 1973 issue, illustrating the carol ‘Good King Wenceslas’, the phases of the moon are not consistent on the various 3p values, and the dishes of alms carried by the King and page have ornamentations that vary between the third and fourth stamps of the 3p strip (Fig. 22). And finally, so far, the Christmas 1975 air letter has in the inscription 'Senders (for 'Sender's') name and address.'

In the realm of historical inexactitudes there are several examples that keen eyes and erudition have brought to attention.

Among the British bridges on the 1968 set was one inscribed 'Tarr Steps, Prehistoric (Fig. 23), but in a letter to 'The Times' Lady Fox pointed out that they have no claim to be prehistoric and are, in fact, listed by the Inspectorate of Ancient Monuments as 'medieval.'

The centurion shown on the 7½p stamp of 1971 (Fig. 24) that commemorated the 1900th anniversary of the founding of York is depicted on horseback, carrying an eagle. It did not take long for a suggestion to appear that the stamp be included in the catalogue of national infelicities. No centurion was ever mounted while on official business, and would never bear an eagle while on horseback. The eagle, the legionary standard, would be carried, as the name suggests, by an aquilifer, who would be on foot. The subject attracted learned correspondence in the columns of ‘The Times’ and expanded into dissertations on Roman life in Britain that went on for some time.

The aeroplanes shown on the 5½p and 10p values of the U.P.U. Centenary issue of 1974 (Fig. 25) also drew fire. That on the 5½p was a Farman biplane, identified on the stamp with the carrying of the first British official airmail in 1911; but that mail was carried in a Bleriot. The 10p shows a flyingboat, and is inscribed ‘Imperial Airways Flyingboat 1937’, but a Scot from Fife wrote to say that the aircraft depicted was not delivered to Imperial Airways until June, 1938. On this stamp, as well, was a postmark intended to be contemporary, but it was wrong; the authentic one would have had the letters of the month in uniform size, and not a capital followed by lower-case letters, and the ‘37 indicating the year should not have the apostrophe.

In the British Explorers issue of 1973, in the names of the three that had ‘i’s in them (David Livingstone, Francis Drake and Walter Raleigh) (Fig. 26), only the first ‘i’ in ‘Livingstone’ was dotted. This may not seem far removed from flyspeck philately, but there is a valid point involved.

The sesquicentennial of public railroads in Britain was marked in 1975 by a set of four stamps. On the highest value, the 12p (Fig. 27), appeared the locomotive of British Rail’s new high-speed train, designed to travel at 125 miles an hour. Unfortunately it did not show an actual locomotive, but a model which lacked the buffers of the prototype, and it had an extra side window on the driver’s cab.

On the 11p value of the 1976 issue commemorating the centenary of the first telephone call a district nurse is shown making a phone call, while her car in the background appears to have a flat tire (Fig. 28). The purpose of her call has aroused some curiosity. Also in 1976, an anachronism appears on the 13p Caxton stamp (Fig. 29), whereon is shown a printing press of 1514, but Caxton had died in 1491.

The Post Office in Bermuda

GEOFFREY F. BRIGINSHAW

This article complements the interesting results of Mr. Rosenthal’s fruitful research by providing further information on Mr. Perot and illustrating Bermuda’s postal history with its related adhesive stamps.

Mr. William Bennet Perot, who died in 1871, was of Huguenot (French Protestant) extraction, but the final “t” was sounded. He built his home between 1807 and 1814 on four acres of land at Par-la-Ville, i.e., “By the Town” (Fig. 1), so-called because at that time it was on the edge of the capital city of Hamilton which now extends well beyond it.

The front of the house did not face the street. William H. Harrington of Elbow Beach, designer of the 1962 pictorial issue and the 1970-75 floral definitives, took some liberties with the design for the 9d stamp (Sc. 182, Fig. 2) when he removed the gigantic rubber tree from the lawn to show the front of Perot’s house. This fine tree grew from a small sprig which Perot’s eldest son Dolphus sent from South America.

The post office was originally on the ground floor of his home until Perot built a new post office next door (Sc. 168, 180, 243, 351, Figs. 3, 4, 5). The building is now the home of the Historical Society as well as the Library. Stamps can be bought there but it is not an official post office.

One of Perot's problems was that people deposited mail in the night postal box often without including the required penny for postage. Since he was entitled to all inland postage fees in addition to his annual salary of £70, he decided to issue his own stamps (Figs. 6, 7). In doing so, he made Bermuda the sixth country in the world to issue stamps, although the first official government product was not introduced until 1865.

No more than eleven of these Perot stamps, issued between 1848 and 1854, are known to be still in existence. One of them was sold at auction by Stanley Gibbons in 1974 for $121,000, three are in the Queen's Royal Collection and another three are in the collection of Bermuda's former Government leader, Sir Henry Tucker. The 20 volume Tucker Collection, estimated to be worth $1 million, will be auctioned by Harmers in London and New York this fall.

Joseph Stockdale's home on Printer's Alley in St. George's, the original capital of Bermuda, is shown on one of the five stamps (Sc. 350, Fig. 8) issued June 20, 1977 to commemorate the centenary of the islands' membership in the Universal Postal Union.

Another stamp in this set (Sc. 352, Fig.
9) shows the post office in St. George's about 1860 when postmaster James H.
Thies also started to issue one penny red hand struck stamps.

The scene now shifts to the other end of the islands to Somerset where there was a post office in 1890 as depicted on stamps Sc. 190 (Fig. 10) and Sc. 253.

The old General Post Office in Hamilton (Sc. 353, Fig. 11) has been the Magistrates Court Building since the new General Post Office was opened in 1967. This new building has had good philatelic coverage both with the commemoratives of its opening (Sc. 210-213, Fig. 12) and one (Sc. 354, Fig. 13) of the 1977 UPU issue.
Bermuda has never issued air mail stamps per se but in 1975 there was issued a set of four stamps commemorating the 50th anniversary of air mail service to the islands (Sc. 318-321, Figs. 14-17).

On February 21, 1925, the U.S. dirigible Los Angeles left Lakehurst, New Jersey to carry the first air mail to Hamilton. The USS Patoka was docked there with a specially constructed mast to moor the airship. However, stormy weather, what the Bermudians modestly call a 'blow', prevented the mooring. The dirigible's crew merely dropped the mail of some 2,350 letters on the main island and returned to Lakehurst. This is why the 17c. stamp of this series (Sc. 319, Fig. 15) is inscribed 'First Air Mail to Bermuda by Airship Los Angeles April 1925'. Following the tragic losses of their three huge dirigibles, the Akron, Macon and Shenandoah, the U.S. decided to terminate the programme and began dismantling the Los Angeles in December 1929.

Almost ten per cent of Bermuda's stamps to date have been devoted to its postal activities. No other country has a greater proportion, not even Great Britain which issued the first adhesive postage stamps.

The writer visited Bermuda in 1975 and 1978 and has very pleasant memories, particularly of the trouble that the post office people took to furnish single copies of every available stamp which had been issued since 1970.

Like General MacArthur in another context, "We shall return".

Everyone seems to have something to say about CAPEX '78. Fortunately not all said is derogatory. Constructive criticism is certainly to be encouraged to aid future organizers to present better philatelic exhibitions wherever they may be held. It is unfortunate that some supposedly experienced and mature philatelists expected too much personal pampering, and when they did not receive it, became vitriolic critics. It is hoped that, in the future, these individuals will display the philatelic maturity that they must have and constructively aid future organizers, whoever they may be, in presenting better exhibitions, whether local, national or international.

I unreservedly had a wonderful and a very busy time at CAPEX '78. Since I was to attend for the full time I did a little advance planning concerning the allocation of time and expenditures. The Royal Beaver Club membership was a most worthwhile investment, saving time in line-ups and providing the interesting set of the three security printers' souvenir sheets.

It was indeed a pleasure meeting old friends and greeting for the first time old and new philatelic correspondence acquaintances. It was a most enjoyable experience meeting so many philatelic members of the R.P.S.C., the British North America Philatelic Society, the American Air Mail Society and several other groups.

When one adds the wonderful opportunity to view the exceptional international philatelic displays of individual collectors and postal authorities, and the treasures available from the dealers and other collectors, I find it difficult to find fault with some inconvenience due to the large attendance. Although I attended the full nine days, I could have spent nine more days meeting fellow philatelists, viewing the exhibits, and inspecting the stock of the bourse.

My main area of philatelic interest is Canadian air mail flight covers from the beginning of air mail in Canada circa 1909 to the present. CAPEX '78 presented to me, an exceptional opportunity, directly and indirectly, to acquire several desirable items for my collection. Without CAPEX '78 as a catalyst, I might not have had an opportunity to acquire them. To stress the exceptional opportunities of finding items for one's collection I would like to list the items I located at CAPEX '78. They are not listed in any order of significance but all were important to me.

a) A post card mailed from Parrsboro, Nova Scotia on 9 October 1919 by Colonel Ernest Stedman, to Rev. E. Rusted, Upper Cove, Newfoundland. It was cancelled with the two line cachet "Handley Page Aerial Mail/from Parrsboro, N.S." with the postal cancellation "Greenport N.Y., Oct. 10, 11:30 A.M., 1919". It was one of six mailed by Stedman on the flight.

Rev. Rusted's son located this card in his father's effects and apparently decided that the time of CAPEX '78 would be opportunite to offer it for sale.
b) A letter and envelope flown from Toronto, Ontario to New York, N.Y. as part of the mail flown on the Aero Club of Canada flight of 25 August 1919. The cover was a personal civilian correspondence from a Mrs. John Drew of Guelph, Ontario to a friend, Mrs. Norman Macdonald of Champlain Mills, Willsboro, Essex Co.,
New York. The envelope bears the special $1.00 Aero Club of Canada vignette (semi-official stamp), was cancelled at Guelph, Ontario early on 25 August 1919, taken to Toronto and carried on to New York, all on 25 August 1919.
c) A collection of approximately 250
Canadian pioneer and semi-official airmail flight covers.
d) A flight cover from the Grand Army of United Veterans Flight, Toronto to Hamilton and return on 25 May 1920. The Grand Army of Canada's special $1.00 vignette complete with selvage from the left side of the strip of stamps is tied to the front of the envelope with the Toronto date stamp of 28
May 1920.

My personal collection of Canadian air mail flight covers benefited greatly through CAPEX '78. I am sure other collectors of all interests and stages of development had similar opportunities to enhance their collections. To those who were responsible for the development and presentation of CAPEX '78 I extend my most sincere thanks and appreciation for a job exceptionally well done. Will there be a CAPEX '88?

ONE WAY TO DO IT

Raising Money

Does your chapter need money for a specific project? This may be one way to raise it. This note came our way some time ago from the B.C. Philatelic Society (Chap.
31) by way of the Penticton & District
Stamp Club (Chap. 127) and the Okanagen-Mainline Philatelic Society (Chap. 100) and has been waiting for an appropriate time to appear.

It originated with Mrs. H. Jean Bissell of the B.C.P.S. who gets the stamps from the many received from various sources throughout the province, so they cost her nothing.

Mrs. Bissell said that "this is the stamp game we use on our 'fun night' at B.C.P.S.
We have been doing this on the 5th
Wednesday (whenever there is one) making it a kind of social affair." Coffee and sandwiches are served on this night only.

"All proceeds go to the Cancer Campaign and are designated for either dressings (given free to cancer patients) or for research. Had a game last night at B.C.P.S. and raised $18.25. There is really no limit as the amount raised depends upon the number of people playing and the number of envelopes sold".

This could be an alternative answer to donation auctions and the like as a means of raising extra funds for your chapter.

Now for the game of "Put and Take"
with stamps.
1. Make up small envelopes containing 10 items (single stamps, pairs, blocks, etc.)
with catalogue value of around $2.00.
2. Make 1/3 as many similar envelopes also containing 10 items with a catalogue value of about $2.00.
3. Mark the first group of envelopes in Black, starting with "1" and going as high as you require — usually enough for one envelope for each person playing.
4. Mark the second group (called the "Roving" envelopes) with Red, also starting with "1".

Mail Order Pledge

1. To fairly, accurately, and completely describe every philatelic item offered for sale, and to provide the buyer with a copy of that description for his permanent records.

2. To accept the return for full credit or refund any item that is not satisfactory within ten days of purchase.

3. To guarantee as genuine, forever, any stamp or cover sold, provided the return is accompanied by the original descriptive card and invoice pertaining thereto by the purchaser.

4. To promptly refund on any sold-out items ordered.

5. To attempt to fill and ship all orders within three working days of receipt.

6. To price fairly, in today's market, so as to offer the most value possible for the lowest cost.

5. Sell all of the Black numbered envelopes to players for 25c. each. If you have fewer people than envelopes then some may purchase more than one. Each player then examines the contents of the envelope(s) and decides which TWO pieces he wants to discard. Pieces should not be broken since pairs, blocks, strips, etc. are each considered as a piece. There should always be 10 pieces in the players' possession and 10 in each of the Roving envelopes.

6. Now pass out the Roving envelopes in numerical sequence. Anyone may receive the first with the second and subsequent envelopes going to every third person as there are three times as many Black envelopes as Rovers. Players then choose 2 pieces from the Rover and replace them with their 2 discards from their Black envelope. The Rover is then passed to the player on the left and the procedure is repeated. The Rover then is passed to the third player and finally back to the player who received it first.

7. By having the Rover in the hands of every third person at the start the game is speeded up and the players do not have to wait too long to "Put and Take". With between 20 and 30 players, it is usual to give them about 30-40 minutes (as long as they are having a good time). By then they have ended up with 10 stamps to their liking and have seen a lot of others that they may not have seen before.

8. The Rovers are gathered in and sold by auction. You should get at least 25c. for each Rover in the auction.

9. If a player buys more than one envelope he is usually allowed to swap two pieces from each envelope purchased.

Those are the rules as set forth by the B.C.P.S. If you have any variations to them or other tried ideas for raising funds, we would like to hear of them.

It is interesting that privately printed postal stationery continues to surface. Recently we have seen the following items:
- kraft window envelope, 7 3/16" x 3 5/8" with 4c. Cameo dotted hair, from Shelburne Water and Sewage System
- white with window, 6 1/2" x 3 5/8" with 5c. Cameo lined hair, from Office of Tax Collector, Township of Orillia
- white No. 10 envelope with Canada Post printing inside, 6c. black, from The Comptroller The Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal
- white No. 8 envelope with 8c. gray from Eureka Lodge Belleville
- kraft No. 10 envelope with 8c. gray from Statistics Div. Farm Economics and Statistics Branch Toronto
- blue-gray with window, 8c. gray from Dr. G. A. Vanderburgh
- white No. 8 with 8c. gray from Service Des Affaires Sociales, Montreal
- kraft window envelope, 7 1/2" x 3 5/8", 14c. red and blue, from Case Postale Ste Foy P.Q.

How about sending a few of your finds to us for the record?

Speaking about stationery, we have noticed the type ENS25-10d which is precancelled on a postage saver envelope in two different precancel types from Toronto. In one the numerals 4530 are small without serifs while the other has larger numerals with serifs.

With the Post Office to become a Crown Company, one must speculate what influence this may have on us as collectors. Among the things that may occur are: an increase in postal rates are pretty certain, tighter control over expenditures such as production of unnecessary stamps (maybe?), transfer of certain unprofitable mail to other agencies, increased use of automation and possible reduction in stamp requirements, and, let us hope, no change of policy regarding the Postal Museum which serves collectors so well.

Even though there has been some tough criticism about CAPEX, which we feel is unfair, we hear that one chap must have had a busy time. He walked around with a glass from frame to frame, from dealer to dealer, from collector to collector and achieved the plating of the 6 and 10 Pence stamps to a large extent. We doubt if he had time to wait in line to buy a souvenir sheet.

1978 CHRISTMAS STAMPS

Three multicolour (6 colours) lithographed stamps were released on October 20th for Christmas 1978. The stamps depict the main features, mother and child, of three early Renaissance paintings from the National Gallery of Canada.

The 12-cent stamp is taken from “The Madonna of the Flowering Pea” by an anonymous 15th century master of the Cologne School.

The 14-cent stamp is based on the late 15th century painting “The Virgin and 20 October 1978 (1978-10-20)

Child with Saint Anthony and Donor” by Hans Memling of the Flemish School.

The 30-cent stamp illustration was taken from the centre portion of a 14th century triptych, “The Virgin and Child with Saints, The Annunciation, The Nativity and the Crucifixion” by Jacopo Di Cione.

Layout and typography for the three stamps are by Jean Morin of Montreal. Ashton-Potter Limited, Toronto, Ont., printed 111,000,000 12-cent, 76,000,000 14-cent and 24,000,000 30-cent stamps.

CANADA SHIPS Series 4 — ICE VESSELS 15 November 1978 (1978-11-15)

Four 14-cent multicoloured stamps depicting old and new vessels which were developed to combat ice are to be issued on 15 November.

The ships shown are the Chief Justice Robinson which made the Toronto-Niagara River passenger run from 1842-1857, maintaining, during that period, a reliable winter service.

The Northern Light, the second ice vessel shown was used as an ineffective icebreaker across the Northumberland Strait between Prince Edward Island and the mainland. In spite of its uselessness as an icebreaker, it served from 1876 to 1888.

Now in a Vancouver museum, the St. Roche originated in the Burrard Dry Dock Company in 1928 as an R.C.M.P. supply vessel for its arctic outposts. As such it served until 1948. It is most noted for its west-east passage of the Northwest Passage in 1940-42 and the reverse passage in 1944.

The most modern ice vessel of the four is the Canadian Coast Guard heavy icebreaker Labrador. It was originally an R. C. N. Arctic Patrol vessel commissioned 8 July 1954 which, during its maiden voyage became the first naval vessel to traverse the Northwest Passage. She was transferred to the C.C.G. in 1958 and is still in service.

The stamps were designed by Tom Bjarnason and printed in panes of 50 stamps by the Canadian Bank Note Company, Ottawa in 1 colour steel engraving (Pl. No. 1) and 8 colours lithography. There were 36,000,000 printed.

Canada Postage Due Stamps 1967 Design: Dates of Fourth Issue

A correspondent, who wishes to remain anonymous, has provided evidence concerning the dates of availability of the Fourth Issue of the 1967 postage due stamps.

The dates as given below indicate that the stamps were available about a year earlier than stated in the article by John G. Schmidt (Can. Phil. July-Aug. 1978).

12c. available by the last week of 1976.
10c. available early in 1977.
6c. available in August 1977.
4c., 5c., 20c., 24c., 50c., all available before the end of 1977.

These dates are certainly earlier than the dates when they were generally available in post offices and that raises the question as to the date that should be ascribed to this issue. Should the date be:
1. the date when they were taken into stock by Canada Post?
2. the dates they were received in supply depots? or
3. the dates on which they were used in post offices?

NEW ITEMS
The following items were available at the Pioneer Post Office in the National Postal Museum, Ottawa, on Tuesday, October 3, 1978 (1978-10-03):

Plate 2, Canadian Bank Note Company, 10c. floral stamp “Cypripedium passerinum”, tagged.

Precancelled 12c. Jewelweed, British American Bank Note Company, Ltd., tagged, PVA gum. Panes of 100 stamps are cancelled with two sets of horizontal red lines (black lines on other precancelled stamps). The warning instructions: “Warning: to be used only as specifically authorized” “Mise en garde: N’utiliser des timbres qu’aux fins autorisées.” in red also, are placed at the top and bottom of each pane.

Cancellations on the first day of availability were obtained at the Postal Museum. Further information is available from R. K. Malott, Ottawa.

Across the design and several had the clouds in much different shade than the regular brown shade.

Another variety had three or four donuts at the top of the design around the midnight sun.

Has anyone else found similar or other varieties? Dick Malott would like to hear of them.

NEW AEROGRAMME

A fourth aerogramme bearing a cloud scene was released by Canada Post on 15 September 1978 (1978-09-15).

This new 30c. aerogramme, in the same layout as the Arctic Sky aerogramme, depicts a summer sky with cumulus clouds over a farm landscape. There are worn mountains in the middle and far background.

The scene would appear to be from along the St. Lawrence River, possibly the south shore, but only confirmation from Canada Post would clarify this.

No advanced warning concerning the release of this aerogramme was given.

A quantity of the aerogrammes was cancelled on the release date at the Pioneer Post Office in National Postal Museum.

The other three aerogrammes which depict cloud scenes are:

2. 25c. aerogramme, 10 June, 1977 (1977-06-10) with the Tom Thomson painting "Blue Sky, White Clouds, Green Trees", released at Stampex '77, Toronto, Ont.

3. 30c. aerogramme, 1 April 1978 (1978-04-01) for new postal rate effective on that date. Arctic Sky depicting the midnight sun, grey blue clouds and eskimos in centre. This aerogramme was also the first in the new format.

THE CHAPTER COORDINATOR

Your Chapter Corodinators have been kept very busy these last weeks. Preparing the revised lists of Slide Programmes and lectures, and getting all these in the mail to the various chapters has been time consuming.

One advantage Mike Millar had — his mail was delivered. We have to drive six miles to town to get ours, which uses up more time.

We have been making a special effort to get all slide programmes requested for up to the middle of October in the mail with the hope no one will be disappointed. If the threatened strike goes beyond that, please forgive. We tried.

There is pleasure for us to welcome Chapter No. 157, Kirkland Lake Stamp Club and Chapter No. 158, Centennial Stamp Club of Coquitlam, B.C. and we hope they will have many years of pleasant association with the R.P.S.C.

Ted Lyon for Doris & Ted Lyon.

THE SALES CIRCUIT

September began with a new series of Sales Circuits being sent to Chapters and members. At this time of writing I am not sure if this will continue or grind to a halt because of a mail strike.

The response to my continuous appeal for more circuit books has been very good but I could use more. If you have duplicates you want to sell, let me know. I can use any countries except those of Central and South America, with special emphasis on the Netherlands Colonies, Germany, East and West, etc., Great Britain and any and all Canadian with the exception of Plate Blocks unless they are pre-1955 or of high value. There is a demand for Canadian Revenues and used Channel Islands.

I might note at this time that some people are putting too much postage on their parcels. Ask at the post office for three schedules of rates: 1. Postal Rates, 2. Parcel Rates and 3. The Short Haul List. These can Help you if you consult them before you go to the post office. Don’t forget that the registration fee of $1.25 is in addition to the above postal rates.

At this time, I would like to wish a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all members of the R.P.S.C. and especially to those who send me books to circulate and to whom I send circuits.

(Mrs.) Margaret Allen, Director of Sales

FROM THE CHAPTERS

Cambridge Stamp Club, Chapter 4, has announced that their Annual Historic Cover, which was released in conjunction with the club’s annual exhibition and bourse on 23 September 1978, is still available at $1.25 postpaid from Cambridge Stamp Club, Box 443, Cambridge, Ontario, N1R 5V9.

The No. 8 envelope has a line drawing by F. J. O’Connor of the old Blair Mill, the oldest water-powered grist mill in the area and an historic site. The envelope will contain a filler about the mill and the artist. The cancellation is Cambridge’s first flag cancellation.
Literature Reviews

1979 CANADA SPECIALIZED POSTAGE STAMP CATALOGUE. William H. P. Maresch, Arthur Leggett, editors and publishers. Philatelic Publishers Co., P.O. Box 714, Station Q, Toronto, Ont., M4T 2N8. 12.2 cm x 21.2 cm, 128 pages, offset, soft covers. 1978. $3.00 from many dealers.

Before describing what to expect of this year’s edition of this conveniently sized familiar catalogue, an error should be noted. On page 127, the second line of paragraph one under Prices, the sentence should end . . . “conditions prevailing in the fall of 1978.”

There are no new features incorporated in this edition. Listing and prices are complete to the second issue of Commonwealth Games stamps of August 3rd. Prices have been reviewed and in many cases, especially the earlier issues, have been substantially raised and in at least one case, the 8c. Centennial HB, reduced. The 1977-78 definitives and the 12c. Cougar (1977) have been renumbered.

It remains a compact, useful Canadian catalogue.

The first feature of this popular semi-annual catalogue is the change in format. It is now paperback book size and much thicker than previous editions. It should now be more convenient to carry.

The catalogue lists, illustrates and shows current selling prices for the stamps listed in the subtitle including regular and commemorative issues, airmails, special delivery, plate blocks, U.S. revenue stamps, U.S. and U.N. souvenir cards, U.S. mint sheets, U.S. mint sheets, U.S. postal stationery, etc. There are some 7000 price changes from the preceding edition.

Over 700 listings have been added including the Ryukyu Islands, with over 100 prices shown for items previously listed only. The U.S.A. listing is complete to the 15c. Photography stamp and the Canadian listing ends with the second issue of Commonwealth Games stamps (Aug. 1978).

This is a handy, inexpensive, compact reference catalogue.

The title of this handbook tells what the contents are. It is a directory of philately and numismatics with the greatest concentration on collectors, shops, journals, etc. in Germany but there are also listings from other parts of Europe and the rest of the world. The addresses are presumably correct as at Dec. 31, 1977.

The addresses are arranged according to the countries of interest to the collectors listed. If exchanges are desired, it is easy to find collectors with your interests.

If travelling, in Europe in particular, the addresses of the stamp and/or coin shops and philatelic/numismatic organizations could be very useful.

Additions or corrections to the directory can be made, at no charge, by submitting the appropriate information to the publisher by September 30, 1979. Such information will appear in the next edition (17th) to be published in 1980.

This edition of the semi-annual checklist includes issues up to the British Architecture stamps and miniature sheet of 1 March 1978. The revised prices show some marked increases since the 21st edition (Nov. 1977). For example, the KGVI high values of 1939-48 are well up — the 2s.6d. (476) now £1.15 unused from £0.50, the 10s. dark blue (478) now £1.50 unused from £1.00, and the £1 brown (478b) now £40 unused from £1.13. There are similar rises in several other high value stamps.

The Post Office Picture cards list is complete to date with the quantities issued corrected from the 21st edition, in which total and individual quantities were confused in some cases.

This is a useful checklist to keep handy if you are a GB collector.

With the publication of this edition of Overseas 4, the quartet of Stanley Gibbons Catalogues comprising the Overseas section is complete in its second edition, and provides a comprehensive priced guide to the stamps of all countries of the world other than those of the British Commonwealth and Europe.

The countries are listed in alphabetical order according to their present names and the volume is as self-contained as possible. It has the usual table of contents at the beginning of the volume and at the end is an entirely new comprehensive Index to all Foreign Countries and Places covering both European and Overseas countries. This index refers the reader to the appropriate volume in which a particular country’s stamps are listed.

This volume is considerably enlarged, the listings have been expanded and improved and many notes and illustrations have been added.

Editorial changes and revision are apparent in most countries; Sudan is now listed in full from 1897 to 1977, including a repeat of the British Commonwealth lists (1897-1954). Tuva has benefited from the advice of Andrew Cronin FRPSL (published critique of 1976 Tuva handbook by Soviet collector S. Blekhman in "Yamshchik" of the Canadian Society of Russian Philately). Transkei, the first of the independent South African territories makes its first appearance and another completely new section covers the general issues made by the SCEDTA aviation company for mail destined for Colombia and the 'consular' overprints. Thailand, South Vietnam and North Vietnam have also come in for revisions.

Altered catalogue numbers and stamps, other than new issues, that have been added to this edition, are listed in the preface.

The quality of the printing, paper and clarity of the illustrations are excellent.

Gibbons' "Red" Catalogue is the basic catalogue of all British Commonwealth issues and includes the post-independence stamps of Ireland, Pakistan, Rhodesia and South Africa.

Prices have been revised to reflect current market trends, e.g., Canada's 12d. Black is up from £25,000 to £28,000 unused and from £23,000 to £25,000 used. The 1897 Jubilee set of 16 has risen from £2,500 to £3,500 unused. Improvements, additions and corrections have been made throughout the catalogue as information has been received from numerous collectors, correspondents and societies. Additional information has been incorporated in the GB lists between 1902 and 1952 following the publication of the G.B. Specialized Catalogue Vol. 2 (The Four Kings); the Bermuda KGV1 definitives of 1939-53 have some new shades; and the heading ‘British Occupation of Iraq’ now includes the Baghdad and Mosul issues together with the 1918-23 postage and official stamps which had been in the Overseas 2 Catalogue only.

A complete overhaul has been made of the imperforate and part perforated items of Canada from 1908 onwards. Only those examples believed to be genuine errors are now listed, other items are recorded in footnotes. The 1972-76 Indian series has been rewritten for improved clarity.

Under Gambia improvements have been made to the ‘cameo’ stamps and other early issues. The Malta section covering the 1860-84 ½d. value has been completely rewritten as have the Tobago issues from 1880-1896 and the Leeward Islands’ KGV1 definitives of 1938-51. Additional New Zealand booklet panes from 1902 onwards have been included.

The table of Omnibus Issues has been expanded to show in detail the complex of Silver Jubilee issues of 1977.

As we wrote last year, this catalogue is a must for any serious collector of Commonwealth stamps.

Briefly Noted:

Hundreds of publications, catalogues, handbooks, monographs, new, old or out-of-print, from publishers around the world are listed and priced in this issue of the tabloid size HJMR Newslist. New Robson Lowe publications are featured as are reviews of many other new works in philately.

The second number of this publication shows a decided improvement over the first insofar as the overall appearance is concerned. It still has numerous short notes, often only one paragraph long. The featured item is a two column (each language) interview with F. Burton Sellers. The second long (one column) item is on Thomas Eakins — The Story Behind the Stamp (Sc. 1335).
