82 / March - April 1998
From the Editor's Desk

by J.J. Macdonald

In the November-December 1997 issue, my first as Editor, I posed several questions to the readership. The first concerned the important influences that started you collecting or, more importantly, that now shape your collecting interests and efforts. Very few replies have yet been received, but amazingly the first came from a member with whom I share a name as well as an interest in philately - John MacDonnell of Toronto. His and other replies will be summarized in the next issue. A longer response came from W.O. Williamson and is reproduced as an article in this issue. Everyone can benefit from reading these well-reasoned and knowledgeable comments.

The second question concerned an editorial from another stamp publication. I asked where and when the column had appeared. No one has yet ventured a guess, so I decided to provide enlightenment. The editorial comes from the first issue of China Philately in the spring of 1983. The views expressed could be those of Canada Post Corporation today, I believe.

The Geldert Medal

The 1997 winner of the Geldert Medal is none other than Col. William G. Robinson, FRPSC, FRPSL of Vancouver, British Columbia. His series, "Northern Gold" was judged by the jury to be the most appropriate for the past year. This medal may be given only once to any author. Congratulations Bill!!!
WHAT IS YOUR FAVOURITE COUNTRY?

In 1974, The Universal Postal Union Celebrated the Centenary of its existance. Five hundred delegates got very fancy sets of booklets. None were sold to the public in this form. I'm breaking up several sets at reasonable prices. Over 100 countries involved.

The USA Centenary booklet has $2.40 face value in stamps. I'll buy any number at $100.00 per book.

The one for Canada is more generous, it has about $25.00 face value. Again, I'll buy any number at $100.00 each.

My price for these, and others, will be higher but, still quite a bargain, as hardly one collector in a 1,000 has even seen these. Name your country, and I'll introduce you to something you will be proud to display!

Dear Editor,

I was very pleased to see the announcement of The RPSC's new online philatelic library at its Website in the Nov-Dec 1997 issue of The Canadian Philatelist. I would like to point out that the publication entitled "The Admiral Issue of Canada" that appears in the Online Library and is referred to in the article was a joint effort. As mine is the only name that appears in the article, I just wanted to take this opportunity to ensure that the name of the other co-author, Mike Burn, is also mentioned.

Readers might be interested in knowing that "The Admiral Issue of Canada" was co-authored entirely by means of the Internet. Mike Burn, who lives in Folkestone, England, and I, a resident of Gloucester, Ontario, have not yet met in person. We struck up an e-mail friendship about a year ago based on our common interest in Admiral stamps and the Website project sprang from that. We shared in the writing of various portions of the work, e-mailing drafts back and forth for review until we agreed on content, form and accuracy, and scanned in the various illustrative images from our collections, eventually arriving at the joint effort that is now available for others to view and hopefully find useful.

I would also like to take this opportunity to encourage people to visit The RPSC Website (http://www.interlog.com/~rpsc) and have a look at "The Admiral Stamps of Canada". Mike and I would very much appreciate receiving any comments you may have, including any suggestion about how we might improve it.

Attn: J.J. MacDonald, Editor

Greetings and congratulations.

I have been writing my column for The Halifax Herald since 1980 — on a weekly basis for the first 10 years, then bi-weekly and, for a past few years, every three weeks. Those who decide the composition of the daily newspaper chose for a variety of reasons to reduce the frequency of its appearance. One of the great drawbacks of the endeavour of writing the column, "Perforations", is the absence of response. A few collectors take the time to initiate an expression of the good, bad or indifference created for them by a particular column; many express their opinions only if they meet me in person, and that often is long after the fact of publication.

Timely and succinct reaction is the only true judgment that can be cast by philatelists at large. That's my reason for writing, to respectfully submit a conundrum I have faced with regard to philatelists and their collections.

This is not an age when one wants to be too concise about a collector's holdings. While I was more than happy to provide details of the forthcoming sale of a magnificent collection of Nova Scotia cancels, partly in hope that... some Nova Scotians might be interested in acquiring some examples at auction thereby keeping it “at home”, I was reluctant to report on the results of the sale. In fact, I did not. I found I could not cross the line of inquiring into the private financial affairs of the individual concerned. I think I was right; the value of trumpeting the availability of superb postal history was a matter of public interest; anyone who wanted to know the results could easily contact the auctioneer to make suitable arrangements to find out.

My second conundrum was actually a befuddling puzzle. Some years ago, a noted philatelist passed away. In the course of many years, that individual had managed to collect a wonderful array of Nova Scotia material in addition to being quite supportive of philately by being an active member of his club.

He was, thus, a figure of public note. His demise required some sort of solemn salute. Imagine my surprise when the family objected, wondering “by what right” had I focused on the old gentleman’s passing, especially to note his contributions to philately. My response is that the deceased had been a very public person and his passing was indeed a matter of public interest. In effect, in death he belonged to a wider family, who should have the opportunity to acknowledge the man’s life and works.

Nothing, it appears, so affects some readers as the monetary issues which surround our hobby when, I suggest, this should be secondary to the tenets of the hobby of saving postal history, researching postal history and exhibiting postal history — and passing that knowledge and lore to others.

If I sell my car, the price I get is none of anybody else’s business; the same with my philatelic bric-a-brac. When I leave this life, I do not expect my survivors to deny me whatever recognition, if any, someone else might think I’m due — because the wrong faction of society might have a heightened interest in nefariously acquiring the worldly philatelic goods I left behind.

I enjoy The Philatelist as a source of a broad cross-section of interests; it couldn’t have a better editor than the esteemed university administrator, researcher and philatelic scholar — J.J. MacDonal.

I note the series of articles over the years, which have praised the great philatelists of the past. I recommend a similar series on great collections of the past.

With very best wishes,
Rob Matthews

.... with Dean Mario

The U.S. section contained many fine items including lot 12, a VF unused 1860 90c Blue Washington. A Scott Catalogue value of $1,150 was indicated and the lot sold for $1,380 (prices in USS include the 15% commission and the $C exchange at $1.4417). A mint bottom pane of 100 (severed and hinged reinforced) of the 1901 4c Deep Brown and Black Electric Auto in lot 127 realized $10,350 against a Scott value of $17,180+. Lot 266 contained an 1877 5c Deep Blue Buffalo Balloon mint full OG vertical tête-bêche pair cataloguing at $15,000. Only 300 were printed and the pair went to a new home for $9,200.

Classic Canadian and B.N.A. material seemed to be well received as well. An unused fault-free copy of the 1851 12d Black Queen Victoria with “good to large margins” in lot 614 reached $43,125 against a Scott value of $77,500. A full-margin unused copy of the 1855 10d Dull Blue Jacques Cartier (lot 624) with a minor stain sold for $2,875 (Scott $5,500). Several respectable used copies of this stamp, in varying degrees of condition, sold between $172.50 (lot 629, repaired) to $2,070 (lot 630, with re-entry R-L 29). A mint LH/OG block of four of the 1929 50c Bluenose was catalogued at $640 and sold for $172.50 (lot 703).

Classic B.N.A. was also well represented and many early Newfoundland Pence issues were offered. Lot 558 contained an 1860 EF unused 1/ Orange Vermillion example (ex. Pratt) which was catalogued at $17,500. It went to a new owner for $14,375. An 1861 mint 1d Red Brown (Second Printing) with slightly disturbed OG in lot 561 (ex. Reford), sold for $2,875 (Scott value of $4,750). A VF used Nova Scotia 1851 1/ Purple (lot 590) reached $1,955 against a catalogue value of $3,250. A used imperf 1865 watermarked 5c Rose Vancouver Island sheet margin copy in lot 499 realized its full Scott value of $5,750.

Commonwealth and world issues were popular too with an unused Barbados 1861 colour error (blue instead of black) 1/ Britannia (in lot 769) selling for $11,500 ($15,000 catalogue). Another colour error, lot 835 featuring an 1861 used Cape of Good Hope 1d Pale Milky Blue triangle (instead of in the issued red, ex. Dale/Lichtenstein), reached $26,450 (cataloguing at $27,500). A mint full OG 1893 Provisional Handstamped 20/ on 1/Green Queen Victoria from the Niger Coast Protectorate (vermilion surcharge) in lot 1,064 sold for $40,250 (Scott value of $62,500). The auctioneers noted that only four such copies exist (this ex. Arthur Hind Collection). A spectacular German on-board 1937 Hindenburg Crash picture postcard in lot 1,330 reached $10,925 (ex. Seacrest). No estimate was noted for this fascinating historical item. H.R. Harmer, Inc. can be contacted at:

As a follow-up to my previous message, I went back to The RPSC home page and had good response times. It was probably just the lines earlier in the day. I found the site to be very informative and the Admiral Issue authors, Tony Brown and Mike Burn, should be commended on the wonderful display. It was terrific. I enjoyed the images a lot. I look forward to more enjoyable experiences at this site.

This is to thank The RPSC for their support. The link you offered members have proven quite useful. I have just started my new site: http://www.vfhn.com and my first customer found me via The RSPC links.

Greetings to The RPSC:
I checked out your web page after seeing the URL in the recent issue of Linn's Stamp News. I was disappointed not to see any regional shows listed.
Barbara L. Anderson

Webmaster's Note: Thanks Barbara, for the suggestion. Work is now well underway to include the regional, national and international shows found in The Canadian Philatelist on the Website. And, since we are updating it, we are also listing all of the Chapter Notices that appear in The Canadian Philatelist on the Website as well.

RPSC In the News
The March 2, 1998 issue of LINNS STAMP NEWS reported on The RPSCs very own Website.
To quote Mr. William F. Sharpe, The Royal Philatelic Society of Canada (RPSC) provides one of the most attractively arranged stamp sites on the Internet. In addition to his flattering remarks, Mr. Sharpe summarizes the contents of the Website talking about the links to members own WebPages or e-mail links. Mr. Sharpe also talks about the OnLine Library and the various articles in it, including The Admiral Stamps of Canada (Brown/Burn); The Grizzly Stamps and The Stamp of Kaulback Island.
write these notes on the eve of the Edmonton Spring National show, which runs March 27 - 29 at its usual “Fantasyland” site. A short month later, Ottawa hosts its own “National” – ORAPEX – which is set for April 25 and 26. And I have just received mail publicity material for the upcoming ROYAL 1998 ROYALE which is sponsored this year by the Hamilton Philatelic Society and will be held May 29 – 31. The program is excellent and I look forward to experiencing that good old Hamilton hospitality.

My purpose in mentioning these events is to state the obvious: the stamp scene in Canada – at both the local and national level – is booming. And it is busy and successful for a reason – the hard work of a great many volunteers and workers at the grass root level. Shows don’t just happen and whether it is at Richmond, BC where I was last month, Edmonton, Ottawa or Hamilton or in countless other communities, thanks and ‘hats off’ to all those who work tirelessly behind the scenes to create successful events which benefit all of us.

Speaking of volunteers, Ray Ireson, our Chapter Liaison, would like to hear from volunteers who may have an hour or so to dedicate toward manning our Society information table at Hamilton. It is a meet and greet opportunity and quite good fun. Ray is looking for a lot of bodies for a little time each. Drop Ray a note and be a Hamilton Hero.

A recent major stamp theft from an Edmonton residence makes for a timely reminder that your Society has an active Anti-Theft Committee ably chaired by Warren Dixon. Our goal is to obtain quick solutions to thefts and to work toward prevention of these upsetting events. Warren is assisted in matters en français by Richard Gratton and Bill Robinson prowls the Pacific. While Warren emphasizes that his is “open for business”, our real hope is that his work load doesn’t increase too greatly.

And, of course, thefts are always the time to remind each and every collector that they should have insurance on their materials. Hugh Wood Canada Ltd., our insurance broker, can provide members with the most reasonable rates available. For more information, contact Kris Gaetano at (416) 481-4211.

Our Hamilton Convention promises to be an outstanding event. All members are invited to participate in the election of Directors and to attend the annual meeting of your society. This year has been an eventful one with many challenges and changes. Your participation is both welcomed and encouraged.

I hope to see many of you in Hamilton at the end of May.
Message du président

By Keith Spencer

J’écrit ces quelques mots à la veille de l’exposition nationale du printemps d’Edmonton, qui aura lieu, comme à l’habitude, à Fantasylea, les 27, 28 et 29 mars. À peine un mois après, ce sera au tour d’Ottawa d’être l’hôtesse de sa propre nationale, ORAPEX, qui se déroulera les 25 et 26 avril. Je viens également de recevoir la publicité de ROYAL 1998 ROYALE, exposition nationale parrainée cette année par la Société philatélique d’Hamilton, et qui se déroulera du 29 au 31 mai prochains. Le programme de cette exposition est excellent et j’ai hâte de connaître l’hospitalité tant reconnue des gens d’Hamilton.

En mentionnant ces événements, j’expose l’évident: la scène philatélique au Canada, tant au niveau local que national, est très prospère. Cette vitalité et ces succès, nous les devons à l’énorme travail qu’abattent les nombreux bénévoles et les gens de nos Chapitres. Les expositions ne se font bien sûr pas toutes seules, et que ce soit à Richmond, en Colombie Britannique où j’étais le mois dernier, à Edmonton, Ottawa, Hamilton ou partout ailleurs, mille mercis à tous ceux et celles qui travaillent inlassablement, dans l’ombre, à faire de ces événements de véritables succès qui profitent à tous.

Parlant de volontariat, Ray Ireson, notre agent de liaison avec les Chapitres, souhaiterait que ceux et celles qui auraient une heure à offrir afin de tenir la table de notre Société durant l’exposition d’Hamilton, le contactent. Ce sera l’occasion, pour ces bénévoles, de rencontrer des confrères. Ray aimerait avoir le plus de bénévoles possible, chacun pour une courte période. Faites parvenir vos disponibilités à Ray, et vous deviendrez l’un des héros de l’exposition d’Hamilton!

Le récent vol, dans une résidence d’Edmonton, d’une importante collection de timbres, m’incite à vous rappeler que notre société dispose d’un comité de lutte anti-vol, présidé par Warren Dixon. L’objectif de ce comité consiste à faire le plus rapidement possible la lumière sur les vols qui surviennent et à trouver des solutions efficaces pour prévenir ces événements malheureux. Warren est assisté de Richard Gratton pour toute affaire devant être traitée en langue française, et par Bill Robinson qui s’occupe de la région du Pacifique. Bien que Warren nous dise qu’il est ouvert à répondre à toute demande de la part du public, nous espérons sincèrement que sa tâche n’augmentera pas!

Notre convention d’Hamilton promet d’être un événement extraordinaire. À cette occasion, tous les membres sont invités à participer à l’élection des directeurs et à prendre part à la rencontre annuelle de notre Société. Cette année a été mouvementée, remplie de défis et de changements. Votre participation est à la fois bienvenue et fortement encouragée. J’espère rencontrer plusieurs d’entre-vous à Hamilton à la fin de mai.

GROS OURS ÉDENTÉ!

Grégoire Teyssier

En décembre dernier, suite à la grève des facteurs, 100 000 clients de la Société canadienne des postes recevaient un petit encart philatélique, signé du PDG de la société, Monsieur Georges C. Clermont, les remerciant de leur fidélité et les informant, par la même occasion, que le service postal était revenu à la normale. La carte en question est assortie du timbre de 8 $ illustrant l'ours brun, et oblitérée d'un cachet spécial: «Nous vous remercions de votre clientèle» («nous vous remercions de votre fidélité» aurait peut-être été plus à propos, mais enfin!).

Quoi qu'il en soit, il s'agit d'un geste sans doute bien accueilli par la majorité des utilisateurs et... par les philatélistes! Chanceux comme je suis, j'ai eu l'opportunité d'obtenir, grâce à des relations privilégiées amicales, cinq de ces cartes. J'ai constaté que les timbres apposés sur ces cartes et qui proviennent de feuillet de quatre, ont été séparés à l'aide ciseaux ou d'un massicot. Sur mes cinq cartes, 3 présentent des timbres aux dents très diminuées, soit 60% de mon échantillon, ce qui est bien fâcheux. C'est bien dommage, mais, visiblement, la SCP n'a pas émis ces cartes au bénéfice des philatélistes... Ce qui me porte à penser, d'ailleurs, que sur les 100 000 exemplaires distribués, un bon nombre ont dû être directement mis à la poubelle par des clients ne connaissant rien à la philatélie. Combien reste-t-il de cartes, voilà la question?

The Future of Our Hobby

By J.J. MacDonald

The material, which follows, is meant to raise a fundamental and critical question – what is the future of stamp collecting? Over the last century, many writers have addressed the topic from a variety of perspectives. What will follow in the next issues should add to the understanding of our members on this paramount of all questions. This purposely excludes postal history of the pre-stamp period, but I believe it does not invalidate the discussion.

So what is necessary for stamp collecting? I suggest attractive stamps that are available and genuine. They must be available as well from a controlled official source. Thus, let us discuss controlled sources and genuine stamps in this first editorial. Other dimensions of the topic will be considered from different perspectives in future issues. Please send me your reactions and comments, including points of disagreement.

The Case for Central Control

For the past century and a half, stamp collectors have always concentrated on fathering the issues of the official postal system of the various countries on which they have chosen to concentrate. Relatively little attention has been paid to the unofficial or ‘Cinderella’ issues that have surfaced over the period. Here, I am speaking of dubious issues from areas or countries that really never existed, or at least never were sanctioned by the central postal authority, vis the Nagaland, Maluka Selatan, the State of Upper Yaffa or the Mulawakellite Kingdom of Yemen, for example. These were recognized as spurious issues, which never saw postal use, or even the country they supposedly represented. You may correctly wish to place most of the issues of the ‘Sand Dunes States’ in this category.

However, many other stamps give rise to substantial problems in deciding just what they were initially and what was their proper origin. Here we might place those stamps issued by some occupying military forces, where the number issued were very few and even fewer have survived. I refer, for instance, to some issues of the great and lengthy revolution in Northern China and the many occupation overprint issues of China put out by the Japanese forces. Often such issues only gain legitimacy long after the conflict has ended. Generally, in these cases, the catalogue makers have been the final universal arbitrators in such matters – if it makes it to the catalogue, then it is legitimate to collect and vice versa. When will we see, if ever, the stamps of Chechenia that are available today make it to Scott or Gibbons?

There are other types of issues that equally provide great difficulty. Where, for example, do we place the stamps of the Order of the Knights of Malta? It can be argued that they are as genuine as others are as they do proper postal duty, according to international conventions or concordats, but...? (Please see Figure 1 & 2).

Again, what of those stamps, generally not issued by a government department, that do duty in a generally restricted geographic area or for a very short-lived period of time? These are often designed as ‘local’ issues, e.g. the ‘Can Par’ items used in Montreal during the 1988 postal strike (Figure 3). Are they more or less respectable than those of Kaulbeck Island of Nova Scotia (Figure 4) or those of Sark and Herm in Great Britain? Most of us would not place a high status on any of them, except as interesting ‘cinderellas’.

On the other hand, there are many examples of local stamps in the 1850s to 1880s in the United States when the United States Postal Department did not yet have exclusive control over mail delivery. Little local, generally only citywide companies sprung up to deliver city mail. Specialized catalogues of the United States list many of these fascinating stamps. Some of these, to mention only a few, are Hussy’s Dispatch, 1854-1882, New York, Floyd’s Penny Post, Chicago, 1860, D.O. Blood & Co., Philadelphia, 1843-1860 and St. Louis City Delivery Co., 1883. Many genuinely used covers of these items are rare and are now quite respectable to collect and display. Similar comments could be made of the local issues of Poland and quite a number of other countries.

But all this was years ago and postal systems now exercise control within their jurisdictions and jealously guard that right today. Or do they?

In September 1997, J. Danielski gave a fascinating presentation to the Philatelic Specialists Society of Canada on ‘The New Era in Swedish Locals’ and the following detail is from his presentation. In 1994, Sweden introduced its version of the GST and a decision was then made to privatize the postal service. To date, over twenty letter companies are operating in over forty cities or townships. The fees for their services are apparently less than those of the Swedish Post. Some boast delivery time, door to door, of twenty minutes. Postage labels were first issued in 1996 at Folkoping. All are generally simple and in designs of one colour. Recently, however, some have been more like regular stamps. They often come in multicolour and are now generally gummed and perforated though often rouletted. Because these small companies are family owned, there are no philatelic services as yet, but local dealers apparently handle them.

Canada’s leading stamp weekly has reported that the European Parliament will open up competition in postal services to those operated by its member states. Private companies would be allowed to offer some delivery services with state post office retaining their monopolies on mail weighing less than 350 grams. These new companies would be very much akin to our courier services, I suspect.

Thus, I ask you if it could be that, as the major postal office departments continue to privatize their systems, in the name of efficiency or profit, then with competition by local posts (which appear to be cheaper, possibly due to a concentrated delivery area, and no unions with high labour costs), will we, once again, see ‘local’ stamps, even in North American cities? If so, all the problems of fakes, of very poor quality, of very few numbers, would resurface. And we might be doomed, in the 21st century, to relive the horrors of the 19th.

The impact on our hobby would be enormous: no print quality control, uncertain numbers issued, variable rates, great scarcity of stamps for the average and especially the new collector. It would be a truly chaotic time but might also be a marvelously interesting one for the specialist.
Collect the Way You Want

Under the heading “Question Period” in the November/December issue of The Canadian Philatelist, the editor asked two questions. 1. Who or what determines what you collect? 2. When are you going to send me an article? The two questions seemed pointed directly at me. In previous articles printed in this magazine, I expressed my opinion of what was wrong with our hobby. Therefore, it seems only fair that I should now offer some suggestions of how our hobby may be revitalized. Of course, the answer to the editor’s second question is now.

The answer to the first question is more complicated and addresses directly comments covered in my previous articles about what is wrong with stamp collecting. The first part of the question is “who determines what you collect?” The answer to that is you and only you. However, be aware that there are pressures and influences that direct your collecting down avenues which may be of benefit to others rather than to you.

The answer to the second part of the first question, what do you collect?” This is really the point. The answer will determine how much pleasure you get from your collecting. Another part of the question might have been how do you collect?” In this article I hope to address these points.

Keeping in mind that the whole purpose of collecting is that it is for your pleasure, you will not find very much pleasure from a collection that you make according to someone else’s ideas. You may find yourself asking why am I doing it this way and soon lose interest. You will get the most pleasure from you hobby by doing it your way.

My interest happens to be collecting Canadian stamps which have been postally used. Frankly, I started this way because of the cost of collecting mint stamps. For a while I found it advisable to collect both mint and used. Then I could have a good used stamp with a mint stamp alongside to show clearly all the details.

I am sorry to say that when I first started to collect I listened to people who told me I must NEVER COLLECT MINT AND USED TOGETHER. Now I am old enough to decide for myself. If I wish to collect, and yes, show mint and used together, I will do so. I feel that cancellations, even bad ones, show that I am collecting postage stamps. If the only copy I am able to obtain is poorly cancelled, well then, using a mint stamp will show details of the stamp and the bad cancellation will show that it was used.

(A serious philatelist could make a good exhibit showing what awful cancellations the postal service sometimes uses.)

My objection to collecting only mint stamps is that there is very little difference between collecting mint stamps and collecting baseball cards, or any other item printed solely to entice people to collect, and buy that item. I am afraid that is what our post office is doing and I don’t happen to like the way they are doing this. They started a service to provide mint stamps to col-

Collectors. This service has been changed making some stamps only available by using this service. The tendency is for stamps not to be used on mail, but to be kept in mint collections. They are trying to tell us how to collect! This is one of the pressures influencing your choices.

Some people like to collect using specially printed pages with a space for each stamp. My objection to this method of collecting is that it almost requires you to have every stamp for every space provided. It is true that you will want to have an example of each stamp so that your collection becomes complete. The reason why you do not have a certain stamp may be that the cost is more than you can handle at the moment. Or you may just not be able to find a good copy. If plain paper is used to arrange your stamps, a stamp may be left out. A small note that the stamp is missing from your collection may be inserted. This can be done without leaving a glaring hole, which shouts that you do not have a complete collection.

Another reason for not using pre-printed pages is you might have a very nice joined pair, which you do not wish to separate. If you try to fit the pair into a space for a single stamp, it never looks quite right. If you wish to show slight variations, which you have noted in two copies of the same stamp, the pre-printed pages do not allow for this and the second copy will be stuck off to one side.

You might think that I avoid pre-printed pages because of their cost. Wrong! I use expensive lightly ruled quadrille pages for the better parts of my collection and for exhibitions. For other parts of my collection, I find plain blank loose-leaf pages very satisfactory. The big advantage of this is that you can easily, and relatively cheaply, move stamps around and still keep the collection looking good. The stamps will be arranged just the way that you want them. The low cost makes it no problem to re-do a page if you wish.

Again, I have returned to the point... that this is your collection. Pre-printed pages tell you how to collect. They may be fine in giving children an idea about how to start collecting. Against this point, they often leave so many blank spots that the child is discouraged. The publisher of the printed page is trying to influence how and what is collected.

Many people start collecting as children. Parents get tired of forever buying new stamps, which are being issued in an unending stream for a child to slap into a book. And they will just slap the stamps into the book until they get hooked on collecting and start to become careful. Ask any good collector to show you the first stamp album they ever had. Chances are that they will have kept it for memories, but that they won't want to show it.

Bags of stamps on paper may be purchased that a child or anyone can soak off, dry, sort and arrange on a page to start a collection. I do not know of a child who was not willing to muck about with something, anything, in water. Sure it can be messy but it is enjoyable. It even becomes fun again for you to soak stamps with a child and watch, or join in, and share the fun. If you don't want to buy a bag of stamps on paper, you can just collect them. Collect every single stamp you can and then start the collection. I have even seen very young children who start to get an interest by just playing with the stamps on paper without soaking them off.

This will get a child interested in collecting and allow the interest in collecting to grow in his or her own way. At first they will ask, what is the right way, or how am I supposed to do this. The answer is, your way is the correct way. It is fine to show different ways of displaying stamps. But then leave it to them to experiment and develop their own arrangement of the stamps on the page. A catalogue can be useful to aid in making an arrangement. Even an old catalogue can be used. Remember only new issues are added, the old stuff is unchanged.

Catalogues will suggest sets, issues, topics etc. Any of these suggestions can be used to help you make your arrangement. In fact, you may start out with a straight chronological arrangement and then find that you want to have additional copies of your stamps so that you can show Christmas issues, birds, or anything that appeals to you. You may desire to gather several copies of each stamp so that you will not only be able to locate the best possible copy of a stamp for your collection but will have extra copies to make additional displays. You may also want to have copies so that you can trade with other collectors for other stamps that you want. You may find this one of the more interesting aspects of stamp collecting mainly postally used stamps.

There is a danger of letting the catalogue rule you. Remember that the catalogue is arranged the way that the publisher wishes, with the stamps numbered for his own convenience. Your collection will, I hope, be arranged in the way you wish. An example of this is when stamps sold in booklets are shown in catalogues with a number for each booklet, in spite of a statement at the start of the catalogue, that each stamp is given its own number. Cursory inspection will often show that stamps in the booklets are perforated on one or more sides and are thus DIFFERENT from the same stamp sold in sheets. Differences are collectable.

This is not a complaint about the catalogue; I am just pointing out a different approach to seeing the individual stamps. The catalogue publishers may be trying to sell you booklets when you are trying to collect individual stamps. You may be influenced to see your stamps as they seem, not as you see them. It is how you see the differences in stamps that is important.

If you get into exhibiting, it becomes important that the judge also sees what you are trying to do. If you are showing that you see your stamps in a different way than others see them, then judges will expect you to explain your way. You can get a show judge to advise on this point. It is hoped that he will keep in mind that you are collecting for your satisfaction and will respect this. Judging with too rigid rules can result in influencing how you collect.

Other ways of arranging your collection are by topics or themes. This again opens an avenue for others to influence how you collect. Some say that topics and themes are the same thing and the term is either American English or English English and that we should follow the rules. My interpretation is that topics show things shown on the stamps, i.e. birds, flags etc., and themes are ideas, which are expressed by using stamps to explain the theme, i.e. the way Canadians think. Again I say, do it your way. If it comes to exhibiting you will of course have to follow rules, or get rules changed, or exhibit in a general category if such exists. Here, those who arrange shows and organize groups specializing in various categories are subtly or inadvertently influencing how you collect.

I have started to make a collection of Canadian stamps, which are imperforated on one or more sides. First, I found that the catalogue shows coil stamps fitting this category. Then I noted that, at one time, Canada issued stamps in sheets with the outside stamps on the sheet imperforated on one or two sides. This is not noted in the catalogue. The stamp with left imperforated could be considered a variation from a stamp with right side imperforated. Next, I noted that the stamps in various booklets came with many different imperforated sides. This collection is growing rapidly and has provided me with hours of interest, in a subject not normally covered in catalogues or pre-printed pages. In fact, most collectors I know discard the one-sided imperforated stamps. With used stamps you could make an interesting exhibit on this theme at a low cost.

I have attempted to show that there are many, many ways of collecting stamps, and have given a few examples, which may revive interest in collecting. But your own way is the right way. There is a lady who only collected blue stamps! Now that is different! Hopefully this article will inspire others to come up with fresh ideas, which will expand interest in stamp collecting. It is interesting to compare your collection with others so that you may get ideas on improving your collection. This may influence you but there is no need to copy their methods exactly. Make your own choices.

Some thoughts on the Order of Canada.

The Order of Canada has been in the news recently in connection with the trials and tribulations of one R. Alan Eagleson. This set me to thinking about this, supposedly the highest honour that our Country can bestow, and how come - to the best of my knowledge - there is not a single Canadian philatelist who is entitled to put O. C. after his or her name.

Upon scanning the lists of those selected I have often wondered what sort of criteria is used. Some of the selections make about as much sense as granting Queen's Counsel appointments to lawyers whose last Court appearance was in Traffic Court during their days as an articling student. The Honour is not evenly distributed and is by no means representative of all walks of life in Canada. Political carpetbaggers and party hacks, it seems, are lead-pipe cinches to become O.C. as are rock musicians and sports stars, but philatelists, no way.

The late Fred Jarrett was O.C. but I wonder if that was not because he was the finest Canadian philatelist of his time, but because he was a former Canadian typing champion during his lengthy career with the Underwood Typewriter Company. Someone at Government House probably saw "Canadian Typing Champion" and decided that typing champions were under-represented in the Order and felt that Fred would be a worthy recipient.

The late Senator Henry Hicks was O.C., but that was because he was a former Premier of Nova Scotia and Chancellor of the Dalhousie University Law School and not because he too was a very fine philatelist.

Several years ago The Royal Philatelic Society of Canada tried, without success, to have the late Vincent G. Greene honoured with membership in the Order of Canada. Many submissions were made to Government House on his behalf, including personal representations by Senator Hicks and General George Robertson, as well as a petition signed by The Royal Board of Directors, to no avail. Vinnie, it seems, instead of taking up stamp tongs in his youth, should have gone into politics, or sports or even, heaven forbid, a heavy metal rock band. Had he done so his chances would have been considerably better.

I would suggest, however, that where things count in the real world of philately the letters R.D.P carry far more weight and prestige than do O.C. Fred and Vinnie, as well as Harry Sutherland and Ken Rowe, are all signatories to the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists, whose first signature is that of His late Majesty King George V. His Majesty was a very fine philatelist in his own right, founder of The Royal Philatelic Collection, author of a learned treatise on the stamps of Newfoundland and longtime Chairman and Patron of The Royal Philatelic Society, London.

The national and international philatelic groups will always honour those who have made significant contributions to the advancement of the hobby and, in a way, who cares whether you get any external recognition from your own Country or not. FRPS, L, by The Royal Philatelic Society, FRPSC, by our own Society, OTB, by the British North America Philatelic Society or the Luff Award of the American Philatelic Society are all recognition of something that a person has done, often over many years, on behalf of their own organization in particular and the hobby in general either nationally or internationally.

However, if you are invited to sign the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists, it means that your work on behalf of the hobby has been recognized as being worthy of the highest honour that can be bestowed upon a stamp collector. That, I would suggest, is worth far more than to be able to put O. C. after your name. I know what I would rather have and I know that I am unlikely to ever have either.

On Philatelic Literature

Part Two, Spreading the News

By Micheal O. Nowlan

If writing about philatelic literature opened a door for greater appreciation for the stamp hobby, two forces have been responsible for ensuring a lasting interest. Both are from the United States, and they are directly under the umbrella of the American Philatelic Society.

The publications of Writers Unit 30 and the American Philatelic Research Library are quarterlies that expand many horizons and build a wealth of information not easily found elsewhere in the hobby. They often contain material from Canadian writers, and Writers Unit 30 has Ottawa's Charles J.G. Verge among its Council members.

Writers' Unit 30 journal, The Philatelic Communicator, is a fine newsletter whose "primary objective is the encouragement and improvement of philatelic writing in all its various forms."

An example of the substance of The Philatelic Communicator is evident in the lead articles in each of the last three issues.

The 1997 second quarter issue has "A Style Sheet for Philatelic Writers" by Harlan F. Stone, who is widely recognized for award-winning exhibits, philatelic magazine editing, and writing. Philatelic writers who follow Stone's outline can add so much to the scope and dimension of their work. Stone writes from guidelines "adopted by The Philatelic Foundation of New York for its Education Department in 1990."

For the "Style Sheet" Stone says "I've used my editorial privilege to make a number of small changes that add greater clarity and more examples of correct usage."

The third quarter 1997 The Philatelic Communicator gives Ronald E. Lesher's view on "Some Further Thoughts on Bibliographic Practice in Philately." Lesher stresses the need for "researchers to take special care in their review of the work of previous authors." Search the literature is his key admonition, and he elaborates for his intended audience who are definitely writers and editors.

The last issue of The Philatelic Communicator in 1997 presents Fred Baumann's "Fundamentals of Philatelic Writing". Baumann's 'fundamentals' may be personal choice, but they are sensible directions.

As well as feature lead stories, The Philatelic Communicator has, among its other major items, news pieces on the philatelic literature scene. There are also departments, which include reviews and short items that inform on the literature exhibition calendar, new materials, and awards.

Although The Philatelic Communicator may be specifically designed for philatelic writers, I find it has much that can assist philatelists in the literature of the hobby.

Whereas Writers Unit 30 may more appropriately address the focus of philatelic writers, Philatelic Literature Review (PLR) serves all philatelists. PLR is the quarterly journal of the American Philatelic Research Library and each issue has features and regular columns that more than make up for the annual subscription fee.

Following editor Bill Welch’s editorial, that always has an element of wisdom, PLR has Nepean, Ontario’s Paul Burega with “Let’s Look at Literature” which is a gleaning of news items, dealer price lists, what writers are doing, literature auctions, and other notes of a diverse nature. Burega always has useful or relevant information.

There are also main lead stories. Some of these are classics reprinted from journals at the turn of the century while others are indices of major literature collections, and still others are timely current topics.

A key feature in PLR is the reviews of new philatelic titles from around the world. It is an excellent update on what is being published, and most of the views are thorough.

A philatelic literature-clearing house assists members to sell titles, for which they no longer have any use; all collectors can use the philatelic literature dealer directory, which lists more than 50 worldwide dealers.

Those who are looking for a particular title may find it in the clearinghouse or they will find a dealer who may well stock such a title. Many of the dealers are retailers who specialize in used titles from stocks of thousands. In one dealer’s catalogue, I found copies of an obscure journal published in Charlotte County, New Brunswick in the 1890s.

This may sound like one philatelic writer’s soapbox for the writing side of the hobby. But it is more than that. Its intention is to show collectors philatelic literature is a very significant part of this hobby we all treasure. Its intention is to show collectors philatelic writers do have guidelines. Its intention is to show generalist collectors that they too can benefit from journals about literature.

When I write in this manner, I will always be reminded of what has become to me a very significant letter from a publisher of a philatelic book, which I had reviewed.

In my review, I said the title in question "suffered from the lack of a good editing". The company representative, who wrote the letter, agreed with my comment and told me the author insisted the book be produced "the way he wanted it" with very "restricted" editing.

I have been reviewing books for over 30 years, and I have written or edited and published several titles (non-philatelic) with major publishing firms. I have come to appreciate the role of the editor in producing first class material. Too often, I pick up books that, for any number of reasons, have been poorly edited or badly put together.

Many philatelic writers are not editors, but they have important material to share with collectors. My hope is that all such writers will realize that a good editor breathes life into a text. Those who insist their books be exactly "the way they want" usually get what they deserve, a poor product.

None of this is said to belittle any of the excellent writers, editors, and publishers of philatelic material. To be honest the example I used above is an exception, and it should not be allowed to taint the wonderful effort put out by professionals in the philatelic literature field.

Writers, would-be writers, and readers can all learn from the material offered regularly in The Philatelic Communicator and Philatelic Literature Review. They are tools for greater understanding.

Since our hobby excels with many great books, exceptional journals, and fine newsletters, those who wrote them need an appreciative audience. Moreover, such readers need to be cognizant of what they read and read it with authority.

Writing, editing, publishing and reading are the means whereby the news is spread. In philately, all three need to be 'top drawer stuff' so that this hobby may rightly claim the title 'hobby of royalty and royalty of hobbies'.

For information on The Philatelic Communicator and membership in Writers Unit 30, write the Secretary-Treasurer George Griffenhagen, 2501 Drexel Street, Vienna, VA 22180.

To sign up as a regular member of the American Philatelic Research Library gives you a subscription to PLR for US$15 annually. Write Bill Welch, P.O. Box 8000, State College, PA, 16803.

Next time, I will look at philatelic literature judging, auctions, exhibits, and libraries.

Vignettes of Early British North American Postal History
XLVIII Cross Border Letters – Different Routes and Different Carriers
By J.C. Arnell, FRPSC

Although this is a subject which has received much attention in the past, seldom has the method of carriage of individual letters been identified. Two former collections are available in printed or photocopy form, and there may be others for those of us who like to specialize in specific aspects of postal history. The two collections referred to above are the 1986 304-page collection of Earl Palmer, published as No. 2 in Hennock’s Series of Postal History Collections and available from the British North American Philatelic Society Book Department for Cdn $25.00, and the 1988 late Susan McDonald’s 128-page collection available from the U.S. Philatelic Classics Society for US$15.00.

The Palmer collection is organized by routes, but there is no reference to the way the letters were carried. Susan McDonald prefaced her collection with the statement that ‘normal mail transmission was overland by official postal systems of each country.’ In addition semi-official and unofficial methods were used, sometimes in combination. These included:
By favour outside the mails.
By military or government courier.
In care of forwarding agent for transmission by mail.
By British mail packet via Halifax, NS.

The collection was displayed by region and direction. However, there was no reference to the form of carriage of individual letters.

The few covers illustrated here have both the route and method of carriage described.

From and To Nova Scotia by Sea

Figure 1 is a letter from George Bethune at Halifax to his brother in New York. He had arrived there on 20 October 1799, apparently from Tobago, where he had been living. The letter was dated five days later to take advantage of a Falmouth packet ‘daily expected here on her way to you’. This would have been the Grantham packet, which had sailed from Falmouth on 25 September and would have been expected at Halifax about the end of October. However, the vessel had collided with another vessel at anchor on her way to Falmouth, and needed repairs. As a result, she did not get away until 1 October and, encountering winter weather did not reach Halifax until 23 November. This packet service began in September 1787, when arrangements were made for the monthly packets, which the British Post Office had been operating between Falmouth, England and New York since 1755, to call at Halifax both outbound and inbound during the eight non-winter months of each year. When it was mailed, the letter was backstamped with a two-line circular "HALIFAX/OCT 26/99", struck with an encircled two-line ‘POST/PAID’ and prepaid with 4d. Stg. British colonial packet postage, shown at the upper right in red. The Grantham would have sailed from Halifax earlier in December and reached New York on 13 December.

The second letter (Figure 2) was also from Halifax and was dated 5 February 1831. The writer noted 'I write by the Mail Boat to Boston – she will remain about a week or ten days for dispatches from Washington & return here'. Beginning with the October 1827 Mail Boat from Falmouth, the route of the packets was changed to a round-robin route of Falmouth-Bermuda-Halifax-Falmouth – the New York service was discontinued. In place of the latter, Samuel Cunard was given a contract to operate a mail boat between Halifax and Boston to carry the Mails to and from the United States, coordinated with the Falmouth packets. As a result, this letter was taken privately to the Cunard mail boat Emily, which sailed the following day for Boston with the English Mails, which had arrived that day on the Rinaldo packet from Falmouth – the Falmouth packets had ceased going to New York in 1827. Upon arrival at Boston, the letter was entered as a ship letter, datestamped on 19 February, struck with 'SHIP' and rated 205/4 cents postage due (2 cents ship letter fee and 18\(\frac{3}{4}\) cents inland postage to New York). The long transit time to Boston – thirteen days – was due to winter gales. Concurrently, the Osborne packet had arrived at Halifax on 5 February from Bermuda in twenty-eight days, having experienced ‘very boisterous weather’ and being driven as far to the eastward as the Grand Banks of Newfoundland.

Figure 3 shows an unusual letter from Philadelphia dated 27 December 1842, in that it was intended for Halifax, England, but was sent to Halifax, Nova Scotia in error. It was mailed on 29 December with 18\(\frac{3}{4}\) cents inland postage to Boston prepaid. At Boston, it was put in the Halifax bag, instead of the Liverpool one, and was carried by the Cunard Britannia from Boston on 1

January 1843 and landed at Halifax two days later. Indicative of the speed with which the Mails were sorted in those days, the error was discovered when the latter was backstamped, and it was put into the local Liverpool bag before it was delivered to the Britannia, which sailed a few hours later. The letter was rated with 1s 0d. Stg. postage due at Liverpool on arrival on 16 January, and backstamped at Halifax, England on 18 January.

Figure 4 is another letter from Halifax, which was mailed on 15 August 1846 with 1s. 0d. Stg. packet postage prepaid – HALIFAX tombstone datestamp in red – and put in a closed bag for New York. This was carried by the Cunard Caledonia from Halifax on the next day, arriving at Boston on 18 August. The bag was forwarded to New York unopened, and the letter was struck with a large ‘7’, representing 2 cents ship letter fee and 5 cents inland postage from Boston to New York.

It should be noted that the packet rate between ports in British North America established by the 1765 Post Office Act continued to be applied after the Treaty of Peace following the American Revolution; this is reflected on the 1799 letter shown in Figure 1. Following the introduction of the Cunard steam packets, an 18 October 1841 letter from the G.P.O. London directed that the postage ‘conveyed by British Packets between a British Colony and a Foreign Port, or between any Two Foreign Ports, in North or South America...you are to receive in advance, a rate of one shilling on all letters not exceeding an ounce,...’ This explains the prepaid charge on the 1846 letter.

Figure 5 is a personal letter dated 16 June 1855 from Halifax, which was mailed two days later and struck with a ‘tombstone’ datestamp in red to show that 4d. Stg./5d Cy. packet postage had been paid – the latter shown in manuscript. The packet postage between Halifax, Boston and New York was reduced on 20 September 1849 from 1s. 0d. Stg. to 4d. Stg. The Cunard Asia, from Liverpool on 9 June, arrived at Halifax on 20 June and carried the U.S. Mail to Boston, where this letter was struck with a 'BR PACKET' datestamp on the same day and rated 10 cents postage due.

Finally, Figure 6 is a letter written on board the Cunard Canada in Halifax Harbour dated 10 August 1860. In it, a son reports to his father the accident which befell the steamer by grounding on a sand bank near high tide, when leaving for Liverpool on 9 August. The vessel was lightened with the help of garrison troops by off-loading the ballast on to two vessels brought out of Halifax by a tug, and her boilers were emptied. She was refloated on the next high tide and sailed for Liverpool on 12 August.

The letter was mailed at Halifax and has a circular 'HALIFAX=NOVA SCOTIA/ AU10 1860' backstamp on the back, and was rated 10 cents postage due.

The letter must have been taken to Boston by a local trading vessel and delivered directly to the addressee, as it has no Boston marking and was received on 16 August, the first westbound Cunarder was the Arabia, which arrived at Halifax from Liverpool on 21 August.

Overland to the Maritimes

Figure 7 is an envelope which was mailed at Boston on 18 December 1856 and rated 10 cents postage due, and struck with an oval encircled ‘UNITED STATES’. While the railroad network was still being built, the letter would only have traveled part of the way by rail and the rest by coach or courier to St. Andrews, New Brunswick, where it was backstamped on 21 December. It would then have been taken across the Bay of Fundy to Digby, Nova Scotia and sent to Kentville along the regular mail route up the west side of the province, where it was backstamped on 25 December.

To St. John, New Brunswick by Sea(?)

The next letter (Figure 8) was mailed at Boston on 1 November 1858 and rated 10 cents postage due. It probably was not sent by the same route as the previous one to St. Andrews, and on by road to St. John, because it was back-stamped at this latter place on 2 November, which is considered not to provide enough time for the overland journey, but quite enough for a small steamer to have sailed between the two ports.
Overland to Montreal

The next two letters (Figures 9 & 10) are from Liverpool, England, but were both mailed in the United States – the first by a forwarding agent in Boston, and the second presumably by the Captain of the trading vessel who had carried it clandestinely from Liverpool to New York. The first was mailed at Boston of 25 September 1820 and the other at New York on 14 December the same year.

Both were rated 18½ cents U.S. postage to the border and sent by road and boat, where a lake or river was available. At Montreal, the U.S. charge was converted to 11d. Cy and 6d Cy., representing a local 1½ d. local border charge and a 4½d. B.N.A. postage, added to a total postage due of 1s. 5d. Cy.

Figure 11 was a business letter from Boston mailed on 12 May 1854, which was rated 10 cents postage due. It probably traveled most, if not all, the way by railroad to arrive at Montreal the following day, where it was struck with an arched "U.STATES" and rated 6d. Cy. postage due.

Great Canadian Philatelist Postal Stationery
The Hamilton Philatelic Society, in cooperation with Canada Post Corporation, will be issuing a series of four (4) special postal stationery issues. Envelop #1 is exclusive to the Conference Pre-Registration Package, the remainder are available for $2.00 each or three for $5.00. All special postal stationery envelopes feature Lloyd W. Sharpe.

Lloyd Wilfred Sharpe (1895 – 1969)
Lloyd Sharpe was a soldier, lawyer, Boy Scout leader and renowned Philatelist. He was born in Hamilton on September 23rd, 1895 and attended Elementary and high school in Hamilton before enlisting with the army at the start of the First World War. After the war, he attended Osgoode Law School in Toronto and in 1920 set up practice in Hamilton as a barrister with the firm of Sharpe and Niblett.

During the First World War, Lloyd went overseas with the 91st Highland Regiment where he served as lieutenant in the 116th Battalion. In January 1918, he transferred to the Royal Air Force where he served as officer, observer, aerial gunner and directional wireless officer. In 1927, he returned to the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders (Reserve) as a lieutenant.

At the start of the Second World War, he became the first officer in Hamilton to be called up for active service; he was asked, on August 30th, 1939, to set a guard on the Beach Strip Canal. In 1941, he was appointed a Major and District Recruiting Officer for Hamilton. Later, he was posted overseas and was credited as the first Canadian soldier to enter Germany during the Allied drive to Berlin. He attained the rank of Lieutenant Colonel by the end of the War. After the War, he remained in Europe with the legal department of the Allied Military Government, using his legal experience during the Nuremberg trials. Lloyd returned to his law practice in Hamilton where he practiced from his office at Hughson and King Streets.

Throughout his life, Lloyd was actively involved with the scouting movement. As a teenager, he was a scout, and in 1911 he was one of four Canadian scouts to attend the Coronation of King George V. In 1920, he was one of the leaders in the revival of the Boy Scout movement, which had faded during the war period. At this time, he was selected as District Commissioner for Hamilton. He attended the World Scouting Jamboree in 1929.
As a stamp collector, Lloyd's main interest was in Canadian stamps and he was considered a very knowledgeable person throughout the Toronto-Hamilton-Buffalo area; many avid collectors of Canadian philatelic material sought out his expertise. During the latter part of his life, he wrote a number of articles on Canadian stamps; he also operated a stamp shop in Hamilton during this time. In 1930, the Hamilton Philatelic Society was re-established at Lloyd's home and he became the President. Over the years, he was an active and important member of the philatelic community in Hamilton. When Hamilton hosted the 38th Annual Exhibition and Convention of the RPSC (Tipex), in May of 1966, Lloyd was General Chairman of the Show Committee.

Lloyd died in Hamilton on April 8th, 1969 and is buried in Woodlawn Cemetery.

The Short Story Column
by "Raconteur"
Reproduced with the Author's permission

In 1750, the Philadelphia Assembly authorized the erection of a special building to provide a staircase to the second story of the State House in Philadelphia, with a suitable place for hanging a bell. A year later, the bell was ordered from England, at a cost of £100, and it arrived in good order on September 1, 1752.

The inscription, attributed to Isaac Norris, a Quaker, is in two parts which read: "By order of the Assembly of the Province of Pennsylvania for the State House in the City of Philadelphia" and underneath, "Proclaim Liberty throughout all the land unto all the Inhabitants Thereof. Lev. xxv: 10."

Unhappily, in March 1753 the bell cracked with the stroke of the clapper. It was decided to return it to England, but the ship's captain refused to take it; so then it was decided to recast it in Philadelphia. After being recast twice, the bell was considered satisfactory, and in November 1753 it was raised and hung in the State House steeple. The bell weighs 2,080 pounds; it is 12 feet in circumference around the lip, 7ft. 6in. around the crown, and 2ft. 3in. over the crown.

The bell was rung to summon the Assembly and Town meetings. It was muffled and tolled in June 1774 when Boston Harbour was closed as a result of the “Boston Tea Party”, which had occurred on December 16th the previous year. And it was rung on July 8, 1776 to announce the first public reading of the Declaration of Independence.

On September 26, 1777, the bell called the Pennsylvania Assembly together for the last time. Later that month, as the British Army was about to enter the city, it was removed and hidden in the basement of Zion’s Reformed Church. On June 27, 1778, it was returned to Philadelphia and re-hung in the State House, now known as Independence Hall.

On October 24, 1781, it was rung to announce the surrender of General Cornwallis at the Battle of Yorktown.

It was muffled and tolled on December 18, 1799, to mark the death of George Washington.
On July 8, 1835, the anniversary of its proclamation of liberty, the bell tolled for the death of John Marshall, Chief Justice of the United States, as his body was being taken through Philadelphia to be returned to Virginia, and during its tolling, it cracked again.

Repaired to ring on Washington's birthday in 1846, the bell sounded clear and true on that occasion, until it suddenly cracked further and irreparably.

The Liberty Bell now hangs in a small frame standing on its original timbers in the tower of Independence Hall. Its ring will never be heard again...but the bell remains one of America's most cherished historical relics.

Do you collect the postal history of the British Isles? Maritime mail? the postmarks of Dublin, Glasgow, London? Ship letter markings? the Falmouth Packet? Then Robertson Revisited is for you. And there are hundreds of other reasons to buy the book. It is an excellent work in all its aspects: treatment and importance of the subject, research and clarity of writing, presentation and technical details. It is a comprehensive treatment of British postmarks relative to maritime postal activities from the earliest known mark (Waterford - 1712) to the present day.

Based primarily on Alan Robertson’s A History of the Ship Letters of the British Isles, published in installments between 1955 and 1964 and reprinted in 1993 and 1995 by James Bendon, it incorporates the information found in Roger Hosking’s work on paquebots, Dr. Michael Gould’s work on the Royal Navy and the research of many other authors including that of Mr. Tabeart himself. In addition of the listing of postal markings in the Catalogue of Ports, there are chapters on the Maritime Letter Rates of the British Isles, Pioneering Long-distance Steam Communications and an extensive bibliography. The book concludes with an Index of Ports, which could be considered redundant—since the Catalogue of Ports is alphabetical; but is an added bonus for easier search.

The Catalogue of Ports has some historical and postal information when appropriate and the endnotes to each port are most useful and make the reading and the use of the Catalogue most enjoyable. Like any catalogue the information included is probably not complete—new discoveries being made everyday particularly in the areas of earliest and latest known dates of uses; however, like Robertson before, Tabeart’s Robertson Revisited will be a definitive work for years to come.

The book is a must for any postal historian, British Isles collector, Maritime Mail collector and would be of major benefit to the general collecting public as we all have, from time to time, found an entire or cover with maritime marking from, through or to the British Isles in our area of specialization. Cruise ship passengers have also sent home postcards mailed aboard ship and this book will help locate the port where the cards were mailed.

Tabeart, a pioneer in the study and publication of British rates, is to be commended for having brought us a scholarly update to Robertson primordial work on maritime mail and ship letter.

Canada's Imperial Penny Post
The Map Stamp Turns 100
By Fred Fawn

This year, with the arrival of the centenary of the Map stamp's issue, its traditional popularity among collectors is highlighted. It is rewarding to see the varying aspects of interest and also the wide range of topics written and published on a single-stamp issue.

Since the hunt for 'new discoveries' is an integral part of the hobby, I would add a few more drops to the ocean of the Map's facets.

Early Dates

One of the most frequently raised questions by aficionados: "What is the earliest known use of the Map?" – Some authentic DEC 6 stamps had been reported earlier. Also, I have seen a DEC 3 cancel on a deep blue (ERD 12/17) stamp, which was described as 'DEC 5' in an auction catalogue. In spite of a favourable RPSL certificate, it was pretty obvious that the position of the '3' suggested a DEC 30 or 31 date.

Most of the assumptions of the "POSSIBLE EARLIEST DATE are based on PMG Wm. Mulock's comments in the House of Commons on Dec. 5, 1898:

"This stamp could be put into use as soon as supplies were received at each post office."

Though the stamps were on sale prior to Dec. 7, it is possible that some post offices received and sold stamps from the first printing, before Mulock's announcement. The instantaneous and unprecedented popularity of the Map supports this theory.

'Toronto drop letter dated DEC 2 1898'

The addressee and the address seemed familiar, since these appeared on several early dated Map covers:

Dr. A.J. Johnson
52 Bloor St. W.
City

The description in the catalogue states: "The EARLIEST RECORDED DATE ON COVER", adding that expertization companies refused to issue a certificate of opinion, one way or the other.

DEC 2, 1898 fell on a Friday and Mulock's announcement was made on the next working day, Monday DEC 5. Therefore, a 'weekend' cancellation is excluded, though Sunday postmarks are plentiful in the period. December 25, 1898, the first day of Imperial Penny Postage was a Sunday; numerous domestic and England destinations are known, as well as the unique Latchford covers to the far-flung Colonies such as Aden, Ascension, Borneo-Sarawak, Natal, etc.

In order to decide whether to dump this December 2 cover into a Map or a Forgery collection, the possibility of the ‘missing numeral’ had to be examined. Dates of DEC 21 to 29 are excluded, simply due to lack of spacing. Also, DEC 12 or 22 are void due to the position of the ‘2’. The date line looks weaker than the rest of the dater; since this is the changeable portion of the dater, the indicia could be set either shallower or deeper than the rest of the lettering. Though the right end of the postmark is weaker, the Toronto F. flag cancel (type 8) ties the stamp to the cover.

More than one great philatelist is also a great medical specialist. I had the privilege of submitting this cover to strict scrutiny under the best lighting conditions in an X-ray laboratory. No malignancy was discovered. Many thanks Doctor!

It is rewarding to note that this earliest-recorded Map cover competes favourably with the early dated 1c, 2c and 3c L.Q. stamps but not with the LQ 15c which appears 30 days earlier than it’s official release date.

Maps on Post Bands

The nineteenth century produced an abundance of fancy envelopes, from embossed Valentines to picturesque advertising and ornate mourning covers. Some of the senders had unusual artistic inclinations. The creator of this cover (Figure 2) could possibly have been short of envelopes or had an abundant supply of post bands.

The size of the postally issued 1c Queen Victoria Maple Leaf Post Band Stationery is 121mm. In order to fabricate a 165 x 100 mm envelope, the ingenious sender used two post bands. Two Maps and the two 1c post bands pay the 5c U.P.U. rate to Sweden (overpaid by 1c). The stamps and stationery stamps are cancelled by grid cork. To beautify this masterpiece, the sender decorated the UL & LL corners by pencil.

An added attraction is that this is the only reported Map cover to Sweden and on Post Bands.

Forged U.S. Postmarks on Maps?

One of the hobby’s niceties is that collecting preferences have virtually no limits. For instance, a collector-friend prefers covers franked with multiples. Noticing four Maps on this registered DEC 15 1898 MONTREAL-BOSTON cover, he insisted on purchasing it (Figure 3). About two months later the cover was returned by mail, with a short explanation that it was forged. The assumed culprit was the purple US receiver on the reverse: DEC 17 1898 (Figure 4). The assumption was that the Boston pmk was struck first and the Montreal cancel second. In reality, part of the light purple ink seeped under the heavy black ink of the Montreal barred circle postmark.

Some time later, I found another example from the same correspondence, MONTREAL DEC 23 98 CONCORD N.H. and just like the first cover, passing through the Boston Registry Division (Figure 5). On the reverse, the purple US receiver is hiding again under the Montreal pmk (Figure 6). Transit time took two days for both letters.

The two covers make a lovely pair now, both paying with 4 Maps the prevailing US rate in 1898, i.e. 3¢ + 5¢ registration. And there is no hint of forgery.

Vous avez dit «variété» ?

Non, plutôt défaut!

Le timbre de 43 cents ici illustré possède deux tâches blanches que j'ai longtemps pris pour des variétés. Je mettais de côté, bien précieusement, tous les timbres que je trouvais dans cet état, croyant fermement qu'il s'agissait de variétés intéressantes, jusqu'au jour où John Jamieson, de Saskatoon Stamp Center (je le remercie) me mentionne qu'il ne s'agissait aucunement de variété. En effet, ce que j'ai pris pour un défaut d'impression n'est en fait qu'un léger déchirement du papier. Ces défauts ne se présentent que sur les timbres de carnets. Ces petits déchirements sont causés par la couverture du carnet qui colle à l'encre. Voilà la réponse. J'ai perdu mes illusions, mais j'ai appris quelque chose que je ne savais pas. En regardant à la loupe on discerne d'ailleurs bien les fibres du papier à la place de ces manques d'encrage. À vos loupes!

An examination of eight exhibits at a national show revealed the fact that these exhibitors failed to adhere to the subject of their display. All of them were disappointed not to have received more than a Bronze award, even though their exhibits could have easily won a higher award. What was the reason?

One typical example of these exhibits is a postal history exhibit of the Admiral period. One page contained two extremely rare blocks with lathe work and not even annotated. But as these items did not fit into the exhibit judges downgraded the exhibit. Never try to impress judges with a few rare items that have no place in the exhibit. If this exhibit would have shown just the postal history side of the Admirals and if properly written up, it certainly would have qualified for a high award. Never forget the aim of the exhibit.

SALES CIRCUIT
From Molly Krajewski, Sales Circuit Manager

Mission Statement
To provide the medium through which members of the Society sell stamps to each other.

Program Outline
The Sales Circuit sells empty booklets and nickel box kits at cost price to the members and accepts them back when filled for circulation to Chapters and individual (Direct), members across the country and the U.S. New material is always acknowledged upon arrival, our insurance covers parcels to and from owners as well as buyers, provided the conditions are met. The Sales Circuit maintains the stocks in a business office in a private house, and keeps a Post Office box as a mailing address.

Although not all countries are continually in stock, our fifteen hundred booklets and Nickel Boxes cover a worldwide selection. Maximum value of the booklets was recently raised to $1000, whilst a new Nickel Box is valued at $144.

In 1997 sales totalled a little less than $60,000, two thirds of which were Chapter Sales, (Stamp Clubs), and the rest Directs. Approximately 95% of the monetary value was through the booklets, whilst thousands of low value stamps changed hands through the Nickel Boxes.

The booklets and Nickel Boxes are returned to their owners after 18 months or sooner if they have had massive sales. At this time the Sales Circuit pays the owners for stamps sold less 20% commission, 1% for insurance, and the cost of the return postage.

Very few stamps are lost or substituted, but when an owner does complain, the Sales Circuit upon receipt of the booklet compensates him or her with the substituted stamps remaining in it. The details are added to a computer model which show developing patterns.

Most of the members use Scott's catalogues, however speciality catalogues are also acceptable where appropriate. Our prices are fair to good, as many of our owners are disposing of duplicates etc., however Mint Never Hinged stamps in popular areas never come cheap.

NICKEL BOXES IN ALL COLLECTING AREAS -
BUT, PLEASE NO MIXED AREAS

NOBODY IS BUYING BLOCKS OR FDC'S, although there is still some interest in booklets, booklet panes and souvenir sheets. Books in unusual areas are welcome, but we can't promise that they will sell, although they often do.

Would you please round up or down to the nearest five cents when pricing stamps?

All common stamps should now be put into Nickel Boxes, (all stamps in Nickel Boxes are currently priced at ten cents, but we didn't change the name). Minimum price per stamp in a book is fifteen cents, with the exception of stamps, which are part of a set. No incomplete sets please. Now that we have got most of the common stamps out of the booklets we have lots of room on the rack for the rare and valuable ones.

Minimum handling charge on books and Nickel Boxes is $5. This means that the computer is programmed with an 'IF' statement. If commission is less than $5, then commission is $5. Please note that commission charged is 20% as of 1st January, 1996. Books whose value falls below $30 and Nickel Boxes whose values fall below $100 are withdrawn.

One of the founders of STAMPEX Canada, he served as exhibits chairman at CAPEX '78, Executive Secretary of CANADA '82, General Manager of CAPEX '87 and Commissioner General of CANADA '92 and CAPEX '96.

Michael’s collections of Canadian Postal Booklets and the Old German States Parcel Post have taken high international awards. He is currently working on collections of the postal history of the Italian States, with emphasis on the Napoleonic period.

His father introduced him to collecting when he was six. Later, Ken specialized in Ireland, Greenland, the Faroes, Norfolk Island and Pitcairn Island, as well as continuing his father's collections of Canada and Scouts on Stamps.

Ken is a member of many local, national and international stamp clubs. He is currently a director of the Stratford Stamp Club and is one of their representatives to the Grand River Valley Philatelic Association executive meetings. He is the unofficial co-ordinator of the G.R.V.P.A.-backed project to develop a common set of local judging criteria, with a standardized local-level judging sheet.

For many years he assisted with SARPHEx, the joint exhibition of the Sarnia and Port Huron Stamp Clubs. Since then he has been a regional judge in southwestern Ontario for a dozen years and is currently working towards his national level judging accreditation. He believes there has to be more aid and encouragement for exhibitors at the local level, especially for novices.

He has exhibited in Ireland, both postal history and traditional, internationally. His traditional exhibit, IRELAND, 1840-1901, has received gold in Korea in 1994, and in Moscow in 1997.

His non-philatelic interests include reading, nature, walking, music, computer and cross-country skiing.

Exchanges Wanted / Demandes d'échange

Since the Royal Philatelic Society of Canada is the national society of philatelists in Canada, many requests for exchange partners are referred to us. As a service to our members, we are pleased to present these names, so that those who wish to do so can make overseas contacts. Please note that we have no way of checking the credentials of the individuals who write to us asking that their names be published; therefore, we urge that caution be taken when answering these requests.

La Société royale de philatélie du Canada ne s'occupe pas normalement des échanges entre philatélistes, mais comme elle est la société philatélique nationale du Canada, on met ou lui transmet de nombreuses demandes de philatélistes désireux de trouver des correspondants pour échanger des timbres. Ainsi a-t-elle décidé, pour rendre service à ses membres, de publier les noms d'intéressés d'outremer, afin que ceux qui désirent établir des rapports avec eux puissent la faire. Je vous signale toutefois que nous ne savons rien des personnes qui nous demandent de publier leur nom, c'est pourquoi je vous conseille d'être prudent en répondant à ces demandes d'échange.

R. Maresch & Son

Dear Bill,

The results are now in on your sale of my collection of used Canadian stamps and covers, and I must take the opportunity to share my reaction with you and your colleagues at R. Maresch & Son.

When I approached you last fall to discuss the possible disposition of my collection, I did so with some trepidation. Guided by your advice over many years, and with key acquisitions from your sales, I knew I had formed a collection of quality and some philatelic value. I was none the less concerned about timing, how the material would be catalogued, and whether I would have any input. I need not have worried.

From the time of my initial consultation with you and Rick Sheryer, my concerns received your fullest attention. As your work progressed, you kept me fully informed and gave me several opportunities to be involved. The collection could have been spread among several auctions, but instead you recommended a single sale that would highlight my approach, in a catalogue that departed from your normal format. In terms of lotting, layout, and color illustration, it set new standards, in my opinion. By sale time I was completely satisfied that everything had been done to present the best possible sale, from my perspective and that of the bidders you hoped to attract.

The results, which far exceeded my expectation, confirmed that my selection of R. Maresch & Son had been the right choice. I would not hesitate to direct prospective clients to your firm.

Thank you.

Yours sincerely.

David Roberts
